- 1 PROCEEDINGS
- 2 (Court opens at 0903H)
- 3 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 4 Please be seated. The Court is now in session.
- 5 During today's sessions, as scheduled, the Chamber is going to
- 6 conduct the hearings on the key documents presentation. The
- 7 Chamber is going to hear counsels for Mr. Nuon Chea presenting
- 8 their key documents and responses to the documents put before the
- 9 Chamber by the Co-Prosecutors and the Lead Co-Lawyers for the
- 10 civil parties on the 24th to 27th of June 2013.
- 11 Mr. Dav Ansan is now directed to report to the Chamber the
- 12 current status of the parties to the proceedings today.
- 13 THE GREFFIER:
- 14 Good morning, Mr. President and Your Honours. All parties to the
- 15 proceedings are present except Mr. Nuon Chea, who is present in
- 16 his holding cell, as ruled by the Trial Chamber, due to his
- 17 health concerns.
- 18 [09.05.28]
- 19 Lead Co-Lawyer for the civil parties on the national side, Mr.
- 20 Pich Ang, has informed the Chamber that he would be a bit late.
- 21 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 22 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 23 Thank you.
- 24 Next, before we hand over to counsels for Mr. Nuon Chea, the
- 25 Chamber would like to invite Mr. Arthur Vercken to rise, please.

- 1 On Thursday the 4th of July, after the President had announced
- 2 the close of proceedings for the day, Mr. Arthur Vercken,
- 3 international lawyer for Khieu Samphan, shouted angrily at the
- 4 President. He then remained seated as the President and other the
- 5 Trial Chamber Judges left the courtroom. This behaviour falls
- 6 well below the standards of professionalism expected of lawyers
- 7 appearing in this or any other court and is a poor example to
- 8 more junior lawyers. He was rude and disruptive in front of a
- 9 witness, his professional colleagues, and the public.
- 10 He is warned, pursuant to Internal Rule 37.1.
- 11 You may be seated.
- 12 [09.07.25]
- 13 MR. VERCKEN:
- 14 And if I wish to answer, Mr. President, is that possible, to say
- 15 that I feel that-
- 16 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 17 No. You may be seated.
- 18 MR. VERCKEN:
- 19 I will certainly find the time to express myself a bit more in
- 20 length; not now, but later.
- 21 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 22 Now the Chamber would like to hand over to counsels for Mr. Nuon
- 23 Chea to be able to present their documents or make any
- 24 observation regarding the key documents presented by Lead
- 25 Co-Lawyers and Co-Prosecutors previously.

- 1 Counsel Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed first.
- 2 [09.08.30]
- 3 MR. LYSAK:
- 4 Thank you, Mr. President. Good morning to you, and the Bench, and
- 5 counsel. I wanted to raise just a preliminary issue regarding a
- 6 list of documents that the Nuon Chea team circulated last night,
- 7 I believe, rather than raise this objection when in the middle
- 8 of their proceedings.
- 9 A number of the documents listed were trial transcripts -
- 10 transcripts from the trial proceedings. It appears that the Nuon
- 11 Chea team, as part of its presentation, intends to do something
- 12 that none of us have done before, which is read testimony of
- 13 witnesses from the trial proceedings.
- 14 Now, I'm not certain of the use that they intend to make of trial
- 15 testimony from witnesses. If it is simply context or introduction
- 16 to a document they are presenting, we may not have any objection,
- 17 but if they intend to use this proceeding to present witness
- 18 testimony that they believe is relevant, I believe that goes
- 19 outside the scope of the intended purpose of these proceedings,
- 20 which is to discuss documentary evidence that the parties believe
- 21 are relevant.
- 22 So, I raise that issue now because there are a number of
- 23 documents on the list and I believe it's appropriate to raise
- 24 this objection now rather than in the middle of proceedings.
- 25 [09.09.55]

- 1 MR. KOPPE:
- 2 Good morning, Mr. President. If I may briefly reply, there are
- 3 some trial transcripts in our documents list of documents. It
- 4 is merely being used by me today to provide context, in a sense
- 5 of the probative value of the documents being presented. It's -
- 6 it gives a background to our argument, in which we are
- 7 challenging the probative value raised in those documents.
- 8 So it's certainly not the idea to present closing arguments, as
- 9 it were, just purely background context.
- 10 (Judges deliberate)
- 11 [09.11.07]
- 12 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 13 Counsels for Mr. Nuon Chea, you may now proceed.
- 14 MR. KOPPE:
- 15 Thank you, Mr. President, Your Honours. Good morning, Counsel.
- 16 Mr. President, today we will offer Nuon Chea's response to the
- 17 document presentations given by the Co-Prosecutors and the civil
- 18 parties, which we heard in this courtroom the week before last.
- 19 As the Chamber is aware, those presentations concerned two broad
- 20 topics: the five so-called criminal policies of the joint
- 21 criminal enterprise charged in the Closing Order and the role of
- 22 our client in Democratic Kampuchea.
- 23 We, my colleague Son Arun and myself, will respond to both parts
- 24 of that presentation today and tomorrow morning.
- 25 I will begin with a discussion of the five alleged criminal

- 1 policies and a brief, general discussion of Nuon Chea's role.
- 2 [09.12.25]
- 3 We anticipate, Mr. President, that part of our response will take
- 4 most of today's hearing. My Cambodian colleague, Son Arun, will
- 5 then speak about Nuon Chea's role in greater detail. And both he
- 6 and I have some general comments about the quality, reliability,
- 7 and authenticity of the evidence presented before the Chamber.
- 8 Finally, Nuon Chea himself will use the last hour of our
- 9 allocated time to make a statement. We anticipate that this will
- 10 happen during the second half of tomorrow morning's session.
- 11 Mr. President, I feel that it is necessary that I make some
- 12 opening comments about the scope of this trial.
- 13 Of course, the Chamber is familiar with our position about this.
- 14 We stated in objections during the Co-Prosecutors' and civil
- 15 parties' document presentations; we stated that. The Chamber may
- 16 also be aware that we have since filed an addendum to an
- 17 outstanding appeal with the Supreme Court Chamber.
- 18 [09.13.42]
- 19 Our submissions before both Chambers, your Chamber and the
- 20 Supreme Court Chamber, are based on the fundamental separation
- 21 which the Chamber established at the beginning of this trial.
- 22 That separation is between evidence of the existence of the
- 23 alleged criminal policies of Democratic Kampuchea, which is
- 24 admissible, and their implementation, which is, in our view,
- 25 inadmissible.

- 1 I think it is clear that both the Co-Prosecutors and the civil
- 2 parties have strayed frequently into questions of implementation,
- 3 and therefore into areas beyond the scope of this trial. And,
- 4 indeed, the Prosecution's position was not that they weren't
- 5 doing that; their position was that they were allowed to do that,
- 6 and they were very explicit in that regard.
- 7 And I will refer you, Mr. President, Your Honours, to the
- 8 transcript of June 26, 2013, at pages 40 to 42, where the
- 9 Prosecution made that very same argument. And needless to say we
- 10 disagree strongly with their view. We think it is essential to
- 11 Nuon Chea's right to a fair trial that this Chamber assign zero
- 12 weight and zero probative value to any of this documentary
- 13 evidence.
- 14 [09.15.12]
- 15 During the hearing on June 26, the Chamber rejected our
- 16 objections to the presentation of these documents. You held that
- 17 we would have an opportunity to make submissions on relevance and
- 18 probative value in our response.
- 19 With respect, Mr. President, that ruling is not a response to our
- 20 objection. There are two reasons for that.
- 21 First, this Chamber has already held that we are not entitled to
- 22 make objections concerning admissibility at these hearings.
- 23 Relevance is a question of admissibility, and we fear that,
- 24 notwithstanding the Chamber's most recent ruling that we are
- 25 allowed to contest relevance in our response, we will ultimately

- 1 be told, as the Chamber has told us many times, that document
- 2 presentation hearings are only for probative value. And these
- 3 documents will end up within the pool of evidence that the
- 4 Chamber relies on.
- 5 [09.16.11]
- 6 There needs to be a clear and bright line exclusion of these
- 7 documents, which means that, in our view, they should not have
- 8 been presented to begin with.
- 9 Second, Mr. President, relevance is not the issue. The evidence
- 10 presented by the Prosecution is not inadmissible because it's
- 11 irrelevant; it's inadmissible because this Chamber has excluded
- 12 it in the Severance Order. Those are two very different things.
- 13 Last week, the Co-Prosecutors argued that evidence "on the
- 14 ground, lower down the line" is relevant to show that the policy
- 15 existed. That is a logical enough proposition, and we don't
- 16 disagree with it. In fact, as we will show later, the facts on
- 17 the ground as to the supposed execution of Lon Nol soldiers
- 18 support Nuon Chea's position that no such policy existed. But the
- 19 Chamber has clearly and repeatedly excluded implementation
- 20 evidence outside the scope of Case 002/01 from live testimony. It
- 21 has called no witnesses, it has prohibited parties from
- 22 questioning witnesses, except for experts or where relevant to
- 23 structure.
- 24 [09.17.37]
- 25 In our submission, the Chamber may not apply one strict standard

8

1 to the admission of live evidence and a second much looser

- 2 standard in admitting documentary evidence. And in considering
- 3 whether documentary evidence may be considered by the Chamber in
- 4 this case, Case 002/01, it must therefore ask the following
- 5 question: Would a question about this documentary evidence -
- 6 excuse me. Would the question about this evidence be permitted
- 7 during live testimony? If the answer is no, the document must be
- 8 accorded zero weight by the Chamber. And we will, of course, over
- 9 the course of our response, identify for the Chamber evidence
- 10 presented by the Co-Prosecutors and civil parties which ought to
- 11 be disregarded for this very reason.
- 12 Mr. President, this is our legal objection to the evidence of
- 13 implementation. These are the legal reasons why that documentary
- 14 evidence is inadmissible. But, of course, underneath the legal
- 15 question is one rooted in the facts of this case, and it is a
- 16 question that is fundamental to the allegations against our
- 17 client; it is fundamental to Nuon Chea's defence against those
- 18 allegations; and it is fundamental to the way this Tribunal
- 19 thinks about the nature of Nuon Chea's responsibility for what
- 20 happened in Democratic Kampuchea.
- 21 [09.19.26]
- 22 Mr. President, Your Honours, as the Chamber is aware, Nuon Chea
- 23 does not deny the seniority of his role in Democratic Kampuchea.
- 24 He does not deny that he was involved in formulating the policies
- 25 of Democratic Kampuchea, but he does deny that those policies

1 were intended to cause the commission of crimes. Now, it is

- 2 exactly Nuon Chea's claim that if lower level cadres committed
- 3 crimes, they committed those crimes in defiance of the orders of
- 4 the Party Centre. And we submit that the evidence amply supports
- 5 Nuon Chea's position.
- 6 The evidence is overwhelming that criminal acts in Democratic
- 7 Kampuchea were committed by local cadres acting on their own,
- 8 without instruction. The evidence is overwhelming that criminal
- 9 conduct varied widely across Cambodia and depended on the whims
- 10 of local leaders. That is why we are so insistent that, where
- 11 policies outside the scope of Case 002/01 are at issue, the
- 12 Chamber consider no evidence of implementation. The Chamber
- 13 cannot seriously conclude that we have had an adequate
- 14 opportunity to show that the facts on the ground in cooperatives
- 15 and security centres deviated from the CPK's centrally directed
- 16 policies.
- 17 [09.21.07]
- 18 For that reason, Mr. President, we ask that in evaluating the
- 19 evidence placed before you the documentary evidence you pay
- 20 the closest attention to what was said by the Party Centre was
- 21 said. If you focus carefully on what was said, you will find that
- 22 the Communist Party of Kampuchea had no intention to commit
- 23 criminal acts. The Communist Party of Kampuchea intended to
- 24 implement a socialist revolution in Cambodia full stop.
- 25 I would like to quote something the Co-Prosecutors recently said

- 1 in a filing to the Supreme Court Chamber. That was in document
- 2 E284/4/3. It was in fact the Co-Prosecutors' response to our
- 3 appeal against this Chamber's decision to renew severance of the
- 4 Closing Order. And the Co-Prosecutors said the following and I
- 5 quote: "The Co-Prosecutors submit that this is not a political
- 6 trial in which the Accused are being prosecuted because they were
- 7 communists, socialists or revolutionaries." End of quote.
- 8 Mr. President, we would submit that the Co-Prosecutors'
- 9 presentation demonstrates that this claim is demonstrably false.
- 10 Every document in their presentation which truly concerned CPK
- 11 policy was about the general political goals of the revolution.
- 12 None of those documents instruct, assume or intend the commission
- 13 of criminal acts not one.
- 14 [09.22.51]
- 15 Now, Mr. President, with that in mind, allow us to proceed to
- 16 discuss each of the alleged policies, one at a time. And with
- 17 respect to all five policies, we will show that the Prosecution's
- 18 key documents systematically fail to show any criminal intent on
- 19 the part of the Party Centre. We will ask the Chamber to recall
- 20 that the Prosecution's presentation reflects their selection of
- 21 the very best documents they could find after years of
- 22 investigation. And we will submit that this fact shows
- 23 convincingly that the Party Centre had no criminal intent. With
- 24 respect to the two policies which are within the scope of this
- 25 trial, we will make a preliminary showing that the evidence on

- 1 the ground corroborates Nuon Chea's position that if crimes were
- 2 indeed committed, they were sporadic, inconsistent, and driven by
- 3 local cadres.
- 4 I will now go, Mr. President, to the documentary evidence as
- 5 presented by the Prosecution and civil parties.
- 6 [09.24.08]
- 7 Permit me to make some general comments about the key documents
- 8 presented by the Prosecution.
- 9 I would like to comment especially on the Prosecution's use of
- 10 secondary sources. These are, for instance, books written by
- 11 people like Ben Kiernan and Philip Short. These books were
- 12 written by researchers who collected their evidence after the end
- 13 of the regime. They reviewed documents and interviewed witnesses,
- 14 and in Philip Short's case, he began his research 20 years after
- 15 the regime ended. And Mr. Short doesn't speak or read a word of
- 16 Khmer.
- 17 Now, if you allow me, speaking as a lawyer, and not even on
- 18 behalf of our client Nuon Chea, but just professionally, I find
- 19 this practice objectionable. This is not the way, in my view, you
- 20 run a trial. This is not the way you show that a person is guilty
- 21 of a crime.
- 22 I would like to remind this Chamber that the Prosecution's
- 23 presentation was supposed to be a presentation of key documents,
- 24 the heart of the case that our client and Khieu Samphan are
- 25 criminally liable.

- 1 [09.25.36]
- 2 Now, I don't mean to suggest that expert analysis is never
- 3 useful. It's useful for some purposes. For instance, the Chamber
- 4 has before it an expert report from Dr. Ewa Tabeau concerning the
- 5 demographics of Cambodia in the 1970s and the number of people
- 6 who supposedly died between 1975 and 1979. Now, we certainly have
- 7 serious methodological problems with that report, but at least
- 8 it's a proper expert report. It gives an expert opinion about
- 9 something outside the competency of the Chamber.
- 10 But the excerpts from the Short and Kiernan book used by the
- 11 Prosecution go to simple claims of fact of facts about things
- 12 that supposedly happened in Democratic Kampuchea. Some of them
- 13 even go directly to the acts and conduct of the Accused. Pursuant
- 14 to this Chamber's ruling, evidence of the acts and conduct of the
- 15 Accused in a witness statement is inadmissible that's in a
- 16 sworn witness statement. And, instead, what we have here is an
- 17 unsworn, unauthenticated claim from an author who was not present
- 18 in Cambodia that he has somehow found something out about Nuon
- 19 Chea or Khieu Samphan. Now, that's the kind of thing you use to
- 20 write a paper in a political science class in first year
- 21 university; it's not the kind of thing you use to prove guilt
- 22 beyond a reasonable doubt in a court of law.
- 23 [09.27.28]
- 24 The dangers of relying on secondary research, especially without
- 25 the appearance of even the author, was brought, in our view, into

1 sharp focus with the testimony - the recent testimony of Nou Mouk

- 2 on June 20. Nou Mouk was summonsed by the Chamber mainly because
- 3 Ben Kiernan claimed in one of his books that Mouk had told him
- 4 that Khieu Samphan approved of the evacuation of Phnom Penh. But
- 5 only once Mouk testified in Court did he explain that he was a
- 6 commune chief with almost no first hand interaction with any
- 7 senior leader of the CPK.
- 8 The Prosecution also relies, Mr. President, heavily on Thet
- 9 Sambath's book discussed extensively. Obviously, we concede, Thet
- 10 Sambath's book is different from Philip Short's or Ben Kiernan's.
- 11 Sambath claims to be describing things he was told by Nuon Chea.
- 12 But it too should be given no little no too little weight by
- 13 this Chamber.
- 14 Thet Sambath says that his book was based on a mix of interviews
- 15 with our client, a manuscript given to Thet Sambath by Nuon Chea,
- 16 and Thet Sambath's own conclusions. But in most excerpts quoted
- 17 by the Prosecution, it is impossible to determine which of these
- 18 sources constitute the basis for Sambath's statements. None of
- 19 the original interviews are before the Chamber. And the
- 20 manuscript Nuon Chea gave to Thet Sambath is not on the case
- 21 file. Instead, the Chamber is being asked by the Prosecution to
- 22 rely on a summary woven together by some "Wall Street Journal"
- 23 reporter and Thet Sambath and packaged for commercial sale. That
- 24 book, therefore, is inherently unreliable.
- 25 [09.29.44]

- 1 And if the Chamber believed that Thet Sambath was in possession
- 2 of important evidence, it could have summonsed him to appear. The
- 3 Nuon Chea defence asked the Chamber to summons him, the
- 4 Co-Prosecutors asked the Chamber to summons him, at least twice,
- 5 and the Chamber decided that his testimony was not important
- 6 enough to hear live at trial. And it should not now conclude that
- 7 his unauthenticated book contains reliable and self-incriminating
- 8 statements from Nuon Chea.
- 9 Mr. President, Your Honours, I will now turn to the
- 10 Co-Prosecutors' claim that the CPK had a policy to and I quote
- 11 the Prosecution "eliminate, through the use of violence, all
- 12 perceived enemies of the CPK" unquote. I will discuss the
- 13 Co-Prosecutors' documents one at a time. We won't discuss all of
- 14 them, but we will discuss most of them.
- 15 And our discussion, Mr. President, Your Honours, will show that
- 16 those documents are consistent with our client's long-held
- 17 convictions about his role in Democratic Kampuchea. We will show
- 18 that those documents reflect no plan or intent to commit criminal
- 19 acts. We will show that the language the Prosecution seeks to
- 20 rely on are not literal instructions to attack people, but
- 21 political arguments against oppressive systems and forces. We
- 22 will show that those documents are only about the CPK's most
- 23 general of political goals. And we will show that those goals are
- 24 legitimate, that on one level they reflect the politics of every
- 25 state in the world.

- 1 [09.31.50]
- 2 The first two documents the Co-Prosecutors presented were
- 3 excerpts from books by Philip Short and Thet Sambath I've just
- 4 mentioned them. Those are document numbers E3/9 and E52.2 (sic),
- 5 respectively. Now, these are maybe not the most important
- 6 documents in the Prosecution's presentation, but the use to which
- 7 the Prosecution seeks to put them demands comment.
- 8 The Prosecution cites these books for the description that each
- 9 offers of the literature that the future leaders of the CPK read
- 10 as young men and women in the late 1940s. The Prosecution is
- 11 seeking to lay a foundation for what happened between 1975 and
- 12 1979 by identifying the books that students were reading 30 years
- 13 earlier, books that millions of people read every year, books on
- 14 which millions more have founded their political ideologies. And
- 15 this evidence, Mr. President, is part of the Prosecution's effort
- 16 to tell a simple and convenient story about a small group of
- 17 people who became obsessed with some ideas and used them to
- 18 destroy a country. But, of course, the story is much more
- 19 complicated. So, this evidence of Short and Sambath is of zero
- 20 relevance and of zero probative value to the facts under
- 21 consideration in this trial.
- 22 [09.33.37]
- 23 The evidence is also objectionable because of the claims that the
- 24 authors, and especially Mr. Short, make in connection with them.
- 25 While Philip Short is good enough to concede that the student's

- 1 readings cannot quote "of itself be blamed for what would
- 2 happen later", he does claim that they were a quote -
- 3 "formative influence". He claims that learning of Stalin's
- 4 precepts quote "marked indelibly the thinking of the future
- 5 revolutionaries". Now, these claims, made almost 60 years after
- 6 the fact by a person with no grounding in Cambodian politics or
- 7 culture, about what these specific people were thinking at a
- 8 specific time, are, with all respect, outrageous. They are
- 9 entitled to zero probative value. They are also a reflection of
- 10 the way in which Mr. Short formulates his conclusions, which the
- 11 Chamber ought to consider in assessing his evidence more
- 12 generally.
- 13 The next document the Prosecution presented was a September 1977
- 14 issue of "Revolutionary Flag". This document number is E3/11. And
- 15 I would like to make a general comment about this first document
- 16 because this is going to come up over and over as we look at
- 17 these documents here today.
- 18 [09.35.22]
- 19 I have to say, Mr. President, that when we went back and looked
- 20 at the Prosecution's analysis of these documents and compared
- 21 them to the documents themselves, we were and I have to say
- 22 that quite appalled. We were appalled by the way in which the
- 23 Prosecution manipulated and I use that word carefully, but I -
- 24 the way in which the Prosecution manipulated these documents.
- 25 They quoted selectively, they skipped portions that were

- 1 inconsistent with their narrow and prejudicial view of the
- 2 Accused, and they did not endeavour to give this Chamber anything
- 3 resembling a truthful or accurate interpretation of these
- 4 documents.
- 5 Now, this is a civil law system, Mr. President, where there ought
- 6 to be some kind of obligation on the part of the Prosecution to
- 7 see themselves as more than a mere party seeking to win a case.
- 8 They are supposed to be officers of the Court. But, especially
- 9 with these "Revolutionary Flags", what they did was pick and
- 10 choose the quotes they wanted this Chamber to hear, in such a way
- 11 as to actively distort the meaning of these documents. And we
- 12 think, Mr. President, Your Honours, that's very unfortunate.
- 13 [09.36.44]
- 14 Let us look at this first document carefully, because the
- 15 Prosecution quoted from it extensively.
- 16 The first quote the Prosecution used was at ERN: English,
- 17 00486227; Khmer, 00063138; and French, 00492814. And the language
- 18 was and I quote: "The mission of national revolution meant
- 19 attacking and driving out imperialism to liberate the country."
- 20 End of quote.
- 21 We agree 100 per cent and suppose, or at least hope, that the
- 22 Prosecution is not trying to find anything unlawful in it.
- 23 Indeed, in this regard the CPK should be applauded for their
- 24 general for their genuine desire to liberate Cambodia.
- 25 Then the Prosecution quoted language about the classes in

- 1 Cambodia and the contradictions between them. That was at ERN:
- 2 English, 00486228; Khmer, 00063138; and French, 00492815. At page
- 3 37 into 38 of the draft transcript I won't repeat the whole
- 4 quote; you can see it. But the gist of it was that there are many
- 5 different contradictions between the between the classes.
- 6 I'll quote one sentence, which was and I quote: "The
- 7 contradictions were complex and much entangled." End of quote.
- 8 [09.38.29]
- 9 Now, by itself, that language would make you think that the CPK
- 10 saw Cambodian society as complex, that they were not trying to
- 11 blindly set one class against the other. And to try to dispel
- 12 that impression, the Prosecution quoted two other statements
- 13 further down in the same page.
- 14 The first was and I quote: "It was from the landowners that the
- 15 peasants suffered the worst, the most varied, and most direct
- 16 oppression. Thus, 85 per cent of the population the peasants -
- 17 were in contradiction with the exploiting class that exploited
- 18 them directly; the landowners." End of quote.
- 19 And the second quote was and I quote again:
- 20 "This contradiction was a life and death contradiction. This was
- 21 a profound contradiction in Kampuchean society, one which
- 22 impacted 85 per cent of the population. It was for this reason
- 23 that the First Party Congress defined this contradiction as an
- 24 antagonistic contradiction. This being the case, how could this
- 25 contradiction be resolved? The peasants had to be whipped up to

- 1 struggle and fight against the exploiting classes, the feudalist
- 2 landowners." End of quote.
- 3 [09.40.03]
- 4 So the Prosecution is inviting this Chamber to conclude that the
- 5 CPK saw the 85 per cent as being in a life and death
- 6 contradiction with the rest of the population.
- 7 However, from from the very next sentence, the document states as
- 8 follows and I quote again:
- 9 "That had to be the general solution. But to win, the peasants
- 10 had to gather up one another to be on their side. Our concrete
- 11 experience had clearly shown that once we succeeded in mobilizing
- 12 85 per cent of the people, the rest would follow, except for a
- 13 small minority who would not go along. This is what we set as the
- 14 mission of democratic revolution. By 'democratic revolution', we
- 15 mean the liberation of the people. Concretely, it is the
- 16 liberation of the 85 per cent majority of the people who are the
- 17 peasant class. To liberate the peasants, who make up 85 per cent
- 18 of the population, is to liberate all the people at one blow.
- 19 Among the 15 per cent remaining, the great majority would follow
- 20 the masses of the peasantry who form a powerful revolutionary
- 21 force." End of quote.
- 22 [09.41.29]
- 23 So what this language that the Prosecution deliberately and
- 24 consciously omitted clarifies: that in making revolution the
- 25 peasant and worker classes are not expected to be in conflict

- 1 with the rest of society; instead, they are expected to join
- 2 forces with the vast majority of the population against a tiny
- 3 group of truly ruling class landowner elites.
- 4 Next, Mr. President, the Prosecution quoted an excerpt from ERN:
- 5 English, 00486230; Khmer, 00063141; and French, 00392816. In that
- 6 excerpt the document states quote: "Spiritual leaders of the
- 7 exploiting classes disseminated information to bury these
- 8 contradictions. The belief that bad and good deeds from another
- 9 life resulted in present conditions served to deceive the
- 10 peasants and prevent them from seeing the contradictions" End
- 11 quote.
- 12 Now, that, of course, is straightforward and very orthodox
- 13 Communist ideology. Religion is the opiate of the masses. And you
- 14 could probably find 10,000 critical studies professors in western
- 15 universities, still today, who say exactly the same thing about
- 16 their own societies.
- 17 Next-
- 18 [09.43.14]
- 19 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 20 Counsel, could you please hold on?
- 21 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed.
- 22 MR. LYSAK:
- 23 Thank you, Mr. President. I do have an objection to part of what
- 24 counsel is doing in his presentation.
- 25 I have no problem he wants to suggest that that we omitted

- 1 information. That is the purpose of this presentation. If he
- 2 believes there are relevant passages from these documents that we
- 3 did not present, fine. This is his opportunity to do that.
- 4 Where I do object is him characterization of our presentation,
- 5 but also his attempt to provide commentary, as if he is an expert
- 6 himself on Communist ideology, to provide purported explanations
- 7 of these documents based on other literature which he is not
- 8 presenting.
- 9 I think that counsel is certainly entitled to read the portions
- 10 of these documents that he believes are relevant, but this
- 11 constant commentary, submissions, and attempts to provide
- 12 testimony himself about the meaning of these documents, I
- 13 believe, is improper.
- 14 [09.44.39]
- 15 MR. KOPPE:
- 16 Honestly, Mr. President, I have no idea how to react to this.
- 17 This is what we do as defence lawyers, we comment on the
- 18 probative value; we make arguments an argument while we're
- 19 doing it. Of course, the Prosecution might not agree, but that's
- 20 that's how it is.
- 21 So, I don't see, really, how I should do things differently.
- 22 (Judges deliberate)
- 23 [09.48.21]
- 24 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 25 I hand over to Judge Silvia Cartwright. You may proceed, Judge.

- 1 JUDGE CARTWRIGHT:
- 2 Yes. Thank you, President.
- 3 The Trial Chamber is not treating this as an objection and it
- 4 does not wish to interfere with the manner in which defence
- 5 counsel wishes to present its documents or its comment on
- 6 documents, but just to remind defence counsel that any comments
- 7 that are made that are not based on evidence before us or
- 8 documents before us, of course, have very little weight, very
- 9 little if any weight, Mr. Koppe. And I know that you understand
- 10 that.
- 11 Thank you.
- 12 MR. KOPPE:
- 13 Thank you, Judge Cartwright, for that guidance.
- 14 Mr. President, I have been told by my colleague that I'm going a
- 15 little fast for the translation, so I will slow it down a little
- 16 bit.
- 17 [09.49.32]
- 18 I was still speaking about this "Revolutionary Flag", Mr.
- 19 President, before the objection was made.
- 20 The Co-Prosecutors continued to quote, in their presentation,
- 21 from the same "Revolutionary Flag", document number E3/11, and
- 22 they used the following excerpt at ERN: English, 00486233;
- 23 Khmer, 00063145; and French, 00492820; and I quote:
- 24 "Once we made the analysis of the contradictions within
- 25 Kampuchean society, how did we determine who were the enemies of

1 the revolution and who were the revolutionary forces? There were

- 2 two enemies who had to be fought: the first was imperialism,
- 3 particularly American imperialism; and the second was the feudal
- 4 class, the landowners, the reactionary compradors." End of quote.
- 5 [09.50.51]
- 6 And, indeed, Mr. President, the Prosecution ended their quote at
- 7 a convenient location, because, beginning with the very next
- 8 sentence in this document, it reads as follows and I quote
- 9 again:
- 10 "The forces of revolution were the workers, the peasants, the
- 11 petty bourgeoisie, the national level capitalists, and the
- 12 prominent patriots and progressives. We had to gather up whatever
- 13 forces there were in the national society, gather them all. If we
- 14 only gathered up a few, we would not succeed in the struggle. If
- 15 we mobilized only some of them, we would only have succeeded to
- 16 some extent. If we mobilized all of these forces, we would win
- 17 completely. If we managed to gather up a large, powerful force,
- 18 we would win a tremendous victory. This was the factor
- 19 determining whether we would win or lose. Therefore, we had to
- 20 know how to gather up the forces of the workers, peasants, petty
- 21 bourgeoisie, national-level capitalists, and the patriotic
- 22 personalities."
- 23 [09.52.16]
- 24 "Therefore, how could we mobilize the workers, the peasants, the
- 25 petty bourgeoisie, the national bourgeoisie, and the prominent

- 1 patriots? We proceeded according to the line of looking for any
- 2 major contradictions to be attacked. The major contradictions
- 3 were with imperialism and the feudal landlord system, which we
- 4 had to combat. As for the minor contradictions, they had to be
- 5 resolved by reciprocal concessions in a way that allowed the
- 6 unity of all the forces against imperialism, especially American
- 7 imperialism, and the system of the feudalists, landlords, and
- 8 reactionary compradors." End of quote.
- 9 Now, Mr. President, the document continues along these lines for
- 10 the rest of the paragraph, describing the dialogue between these
- 11 classes and their effort to come to a mutually beneficial
- 12 position. But further down that same page, it then makes the
- 13 following remarkable statement and I quote again:
- 14 [09.53.26]
- 15 "The petty bourgeoisie, the pupils, students, and intellectuals
- 16 of every kind, are allies of the workers and peasants. It was the
- 17 same in the past and it is still the same today, in the status of
- 18 their original class."
- 19 Now, in the next paragraph, even the so-called national level
- 20 capitalists are described as friends of the revolution. They were
- 21 not quote "a fundamental force", but they did provide quote
- 22 -"strategic assistance".
- 23 And in the next paragraph after that, even certain elements of
- 24 feudal aristocracy, the comprador capitalist class and the
- 25 landowner class the core of the group which was seen to oppress

- 1 the peasantry acted as and I quote "tactical forces" in
- 2 support of the revolution.
- 3 [09.54.29]
- 4 And finally at ERN: English, 00486233; Khmer, 00063145; French,
- 5 00492820 this discussion ends with the following, which, to
- 6 their credit, the Prosecution did indeed cite and I quote:
- 7 "We divided our enemies into three groups:
- 8 "First, to win over those enemies who could be won over in some
- 9 circumstances.
- 10 "Second, to neutralize those who could be neutralized, so that
- 11 they could not carry out actions against us.
- 12 "Third, to isolate the most vicious, in order to attack them."
- 13 So, Mr. President, Your Honours, if we read all of this together,
- 14 the Revolutionary Movement is described as an alliance of a broad
- 15 cross-section of the Cambodian society against a tiny group of
- 16 large landowners which persist in oppressing the peasantry. And
- 17 even those enemies are quote "won over" or quote -
- 18 "neutralized" where possible. Now, this is a dramatically
- 19 different story from the one the Prosecution told you, which we
- 20 get by doing something fairly simple: actually reading the whole
- 21 document.
- 22 [09.56.04]
- 23 The Co-Prosecution Co-Prosecutors, excuse me, then continued to
- 24 cite from this same document. From the middle of page 40, on the
- 25 draft transcript, until the top of page 43, they quoted a series

- 1 of excerpts about the use of political and military violence in
- 2 the course of the revolution between 1968 and 1975. And those are
- 3 from ERN: English, 00486251 to 54; Khmer, 00063148 to 49; and
- 4 French, 00492824. This is still document E3/11.
- 5 Now, with respect to these excerpts, we aren't even sure we know
- 6 what the Prosecution's point is. Surely the Prosecution
- 7 recognizes that armed violence may be used in a civil war, and
- 8 surely they recognize that a rebel force has the right to make
- 9 revolution, especially against foreign invaders and colonialists,
- 10 which the Lon Nol regime was in every functional respect. So, Mr.
- 11 President, Your Honours, we submit that none of this is relevant
- 12 at all to any so-called CPK policy.
- 13 Before leaving this document, I just want to quote the last
- 14 excerpt the Prosecution quoted, because I think that quote
- 15 strongly supports our client's position. And the Prosecution's
- 16 decision to quote it to quote it as if it were unlawful
- 17 reflects a failure to think about what any of this actually
- 18 means.
- 19 [09.57.56]
- 20 The quote was from ERN: English, 00486248; Khmer, 00063163; and
- 21 French, 0049837 (sic); and it states:
- 22 "The line of our Party defined in 1960 state:
- 23 "1. To make a national revolution by eradicating the
- 24 imperialists, especially the American imperialists; and
- 25 "2. To make democratic revolution by abolishing the reactionary

- 1 regime of the feudalists and comprador capitalists from Kampuchea
- 2 society.
- 3 "We completely realized those two tasks on 17 April 1975." End of
- 4 quote.
- 5 Now, Mr. President, it should be obvious to anyone who reads this
- 6 with any kind of context that it is not referring to individual
- 7 American human beings; it's not referring to people who were
- 8 feudalists and capitalists; it is referring to systems of
- 9 imperialism, feudalism, and capitalism. It is those systems which
- 10 were the target of the CPK. And we submit this is obvious from
- 11 the language.
- 12 [09.59.21]
- 13 But any ambiguity is resolved by the last sentence, which states:
- 14 "We completely realized these two tasks on 17 April 1975."
- 15 Obviously, the CPK hadn't murdered every American, capitalist,
- 16 and feudalist by 17 April 1975. What they had done was and I
- 17 quote "eradicate" the political system which held those people
- 18 in power. That was the objective of the CPK, and that is the
- 19 meaning of this document.
- 20 And to tie this to a point I made earlier, it is in a sense it
- 21 is in this sense that the Prosecution's case is fundamentally a
- 22 political one, because while they pretend to be prosecuting the
- 23 CPK for causing harm to people, they actually accuse them of
- 24 having waged war against a system.
- 25 Mr. President, the next two documents are irrelevant for much of

- 1 these same reasons. The documents the document numbers are
- 2 E3/2072 and E3/147. They include excerpts from one speech by Pol
- 3 Pot and another by Nuon Chea, each describing the use of quote
- 4 "revolutionary violence" end quote in the period before
- 5 1975. For the same reasons I've already given, that is not
- 6 relevant to anything. You'll also note that those speeches
- 7 continued to describe the effort to defeat and I quote -
- 8 "imperialism and feudalism", and in both respects, Pol Pot and
- 9 Nuon Chea are obviously speaking of social forces.
- 10 [10.01.25]
- 11 The Co-Prosecutors then presented a series of four issues of
- 12 "Revolutionary Flag" intended to show that I quote "this
- 13 policy continued over the course of the DK regime" end of
- 14 quote.
- 15 The first issue of this "Revolutionary Flag" was from June 1976.
- 16 It is document number E3/760. The Prosecution gave us a very
- 17 short excerpt from this issue, and the reason would seem that, if
- 18 you read this document as a whole, the language is very benign.
- 19 The excerpt the Prosecution gave us is from ERN: English,
- 20 00509614; Khmer, 00062849; and French, 00487759. It is at pages
- 21 45-46 of the transcript draft transcript, and it reads as
- 22 follows:
- 23 "What will the enemy do next? Are they strong or are they
- 24 weakening?
- 25 "We may respond by saying that the enemy will carry out

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 activities against us and against our revolution in various
- 2 forms. This is a continual struggle between revolution and
- 3 counter-revolution; it will not stop. Arm yourselves with the
- 4 stance that the enemy exists will exist for ten, twenty, thirty
- 5 more years. National peoples' struggle is like class struggle: in
- 6 short, the struggle between revolution and counter-revolution
- 7 will continue.
- 8 "Are they strong or not? This issue does not depend on them; it
- 9 depends on us. If we take absolute and repeated measures the
- 10 enemy will weaken. They will scatter into bits." End of quote.
- 11 [10.03.32]
- 12 Even this excerpt which the Prosecution specifically chose to
- 13 present is, in our view, innocent. It only warms warns of the
- 14 danger of possible enemies and challenges the people to struggle
- 15 against it. A little later today-
- 16 Let me move on. We want to we want to stress that if you read
- 17 the document as a whole, it becomes even more apparent just how
- 18 innocent it is. So we will continue to quote from this document,
- 19 beginning at the very first sentence after the end of the
- 20 Prosecution's excerpt and I quote again; sometimes long quotes,
- 21 Mr. President, I apologize:
- 22 "When we are weak, they are strong. By us being strong, what I
- 23 want to say is that we have correct views and take correct
- 24 political and military measures. In a zone, in a sector, in a
- 25 district, in a village, or in a cooperative, it is the same. When

30

1 a cooperative is strong, the enemy cannot enter. But when a

- 2 cooperative is not strong, the enemy stirs up constant turmoil.
- 3 Not being strong comes from the cooperative leadership committee
- 4 not being strong and from the people not being strong. When the
- 5 leadership committee is strong, the people clearly are strong.
- 6 [The] issue depends on whether or not the people understand when
- 7 educated, whether or not the livelihood of the people can be
- 8 sorted out. So then, this depends on us, the Party, and on the
- 9 revolution; it does not depend on the enemy." End of quote.
- 10 [10.05.24]
- 11 But on the next page, Mr. President, Your Honours, this document
- 12 explains what it means to say that the Party can "grasp the
- 13 people" and I quote again:
- 14 "The important thing is to take measures, in particular to grasp
- 15 the cooperatives. The Party must grasp the cooperatives. How can
- 16 the Party grasp the [cooperatives] in the framework of countering
- 17 the enemy? Grasp them tightly in terms of politics; make them
- 18 understand the important political lines of the Party. Grasp them
- 19 ideologically; make them crystal clear. Each mission of the
- 20 Party, each plan of the Party, must be explained [to them] so
- 21 that they understand and are crystal clear. Paddy dikes, feeder
- 22 canals, three tons, building the country and defending the
- 23 country ... must be explained to them to make them crystal clear.
- 24 When their understanding is crystal clear, they are pleased; they
- 25 fight on their own; they have their children and grandchildren

- 1 join the army, join the mobile units, put up paddy dikes, and
- 2 feeder canals.
- 3 "Furthermore, grasp them organizationally; grasp them
- 4 collectively; and grasp their biographies in turn. Use the forces
- 5 of the masses in the cooperatives to counter the enemy. The Party
- 6 Organization or four to ten cores cannot counter them. When our
- 7 cooperatives are solid, the enemy cannot enter."
- 8 [10.07.08]
- 9 That is, Mr. President, the end of that quote. And, again, we
- 10 apologize for the length of this excerpt. Sometimes, we
- 11 understand, it might get hard to follow, but it is exactly our
- 12 point that these documents can't be understood with the sound
- 13 bites which the Prosecution spent three days feeding the Chamber.
- 14 The documents are very nuanced. And we submit to you that when
- 15 you read this full excerpt as a whole, the essential point is
- 16 that if the cooperatives do the work of the Revolution well, if
- 17 they are strong and grasp the people, then quote "the enemy
- 18 cannot enter". So, this is not an effort to encourage a witch
- 19 hunt; it is a call to abide the political goals of the
- 20 Revolution.
- 21 After this, the Prosecution presented three more "Revolutionary
- 22 Flag" magazines. Those were dated April 1977, June 1977, and May
- 23 1978. The document numbers are E3/742, E3/135, and E3/727.
- 24 [10.08.24]
- 25 Mr. President, we are going to have to make a difficult decision

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 at this point not to go into these specific documents in greater
- 2 detail. There are a few reasons for that: one is our limited time
- 3 and resources, both here today and in preparation; and the second
- 4 is that these documents are not very relevant to this trial -
- 5 this trial segment. That's because they're all either at the very
- 6 end of the temporal jurisdiction or possibly outside of it
- 7 altogether. Also this policy is not within the scope of this
- 8 trial in Case 002/01. So we'll deal with these documents in our
- 9 closing submissions.
- 10 Let me just make one comment about them, which is that it seems
- 11 clear that the language in these documents gets harsher in or
- 12 around the middle of 1977. And we think that is not surprising.
- 13 That was a time at which the armed conflict with the Vietnamese
- 14 was escalating into bouts of full-scale war. That's what happens
- 15 in wartime in countries. Politicians start saying some vicious
- 16 things. That doesn't mean they're war criminals. So I'll point
- 17 that out in part as a very preliminary effort to place those
- 18 documents in a context, but also to point out that there's a
- 19 reason why the June 1976 "Revolutionary Flag" sounds different
- 20 from the May 1978 "Revolutionary Flag". And the Chamber should,
- 21 in our submission, find that the latter is of no probative value
- 22 in terms of policies in existence in 1975 and 1976.
- 23 [10.10.35]
- 24 Next, Mr. President, the Co-Prosecutors presented five documents
- 25 from the Central or Standing Committee.

- 1 The first is E3/1173, and it's dated February 1976, and it
- 2 concerns this explosion in Siem Reap, with which the Chamber is
- 3 familiar. And all it says is that there is a need to quote -
- 4 "re-educate internally". We don't think there is anything illegal
- 5 or criminal about that, so we don't think this shows anything
- 6 about a so-called criminal policy concerning enemies.
- 7 The second is E3/232, and it's the minutes of the March 1976
- 8 Standing Committee meeting. It is true that some lower-level
- 9 cadres report to the Committee about some security concerns, but
- 10 there's no indication of anything unlawful just that some
- 11 suspects have been arrested or interrogated. We don't find it too
- 12 surprising that there was some general reporting back to the
- 13 Standing Committee as a whole about this general subject matter.
- 14 So we're not sure what the relevance of this particular document
- 15 is.
- 16 [10.12.11]
- 17 The next document, E3/12, purports to be a "decision of the
- 18 Central Committee regarding a number of matters" end of quote.
- 19 The first one is "the right to smash, inside and outside the
- 20 ranks". Mr. President, I'll make two brief comments about this.
- 21 One is that this document says nothing about enemies. There's no
- 22 instruction in relation to any person or any group. There's no
- 23 evidence of any harm being done to anybody.
- 24 Second, as we see in many of these documents, the word "smash" is
- 25 used in a variety of contexts. We're going to discuss that a bit

- 1 more in just a few moments, because one of the documents the
- 2 prosecutor cited shows that very clearly, but for now I'll just
- 3 say that the word "smash" is a general one. Certainly, it does
- 4 not simply mean "kill".
- 5 The next document, E3/763, is a June 1978 document from the
- 6 Central Committee. We're going to skip over this document for now
- 7 for the same reason we didn't directly address those
- 8 "Revolutionary Flags" dated after the middle of 1977.
- 9 [10.13.46]
- 10 The fifth and final document in this set, E3/99, is a Party
- 11 document from September 1975. And we think if the Chamber reviews
- 12 this document, you will find nothing even remotely criminal
- 13 about it. The excerpt cited by the Prosecution describes the
- 14 decline of pagodas.
- 15 The Prosecution said that the "key language" is in the portion of
- 16 the document which states that when the monkhood is in decline -
- 17 quote "this special layer of the society will no longer cause
- 18 any worry" end of quote. We don't think it's any secret that
- 19 the CPK preferred that monks would participate in society as
- 20 regular workers and citizens, and there's no hint, here, of any
- 21 discriminatory conduct against monks of any kind, nor are monks
- 22 described as enemies. Therefore, this document is irrelevant.
- 23 Now, Mr. President, from this stage onwards, the Prosecution's
- 24 presentation was almost entirely about what this Chamber has
- 25 called questions of implementation. The prosecutors talked about

- 1 implementations implementation at ministries, in the military,
- 2 and at security centres, and as you know, we find the
- 3 presentations of these documents, after 20 months of trial during
- 4 which everyone accepted that all of this was outside the scope,
- 5 to be just quite incredible.
- 6 [10.05.31]
- 7 I suppose we cannot fault the Prosecution for trying. We are,
- 8 however, I have to say, confused about why the Chamber let them
- 9 get away with it. All we can say is that you must now, Mr.
- 10 President, Your Honours, decide not to consider a single one of
- 11 these documents during any part of your deliberations. Any other
- 12 choice would be a flagrant violation of client's right to
- 13 confrontation.
- 14 Now, there were two documents mixed in here which were within the
- 15 narrow scope of the existence of the JCE policy. We will talk
- 16 about those documents. The Chamber can infer that, in terms of
- 17 any document we do not talk about, our position is that those
- 18 documents are outside the scope of this trial. We won't waste
- 19 time by listing every single one of them.
- 20 One of those documents is, for instance, a speech given by Pol
- 21 Pot in April 1976. The document number is E3/818. As usual, the
- 22 excerpt cited by the Co-Prosecutors is misleading. The
- 23 Co-Prosecutors first quoted the following from ERN: English,
- 24 00143463; Khmer, 00072756; and French, 00548896; and I quote:
- 25 "No matter how well we do things, if the imperialists are alive,

- 1 if their CIA is alive, if their reactionary groups are not yet
- 2 eliminated from the face of the world, they will continue
- 3 opposing the revolution, opposing us, opposing anything
- 4 progressive, both overtly and clandestinely."
- 5 Pol Pot continues-
- 6 [10.17.36]
- 7 Even on its own terms, this excerpt is obviously just general
- 8 political rhetoric.
- 9 No, I'm sorry, it's not his quote; I'm reading from my own-
- 10 So, end of quote of Pol Pot.
- 11 But even on its own terms, Mr. President, this excerpt from this
- 12 Pol Pot speech is obviously just general political rhetoric. But
- 13 the context of the statement makes it even clearer what this
- 14 language means and how irrelevant it is, because the context of
- 15 the discussion is the opposition of other world government to the
- 16 CPK regime.
- 17 The title of the section of the document is "The Individual
- 18 Identities and Reactions around the World toward the
- 19 Establishment of Our New Government of Democratic Kampuchea".
- 20 That's on the previous page from the last excerpt. And the
- 21 document explains how, in the early days of the Soviet and
- 22 Chinese revolutions, the world "cursed" them too. "It was only
- 23 after ten years, 15 years, " and I quote, "after liberation before
- 24 a number of countries made contacts with China."
- 25 The forces "opposing" the CPK revolution are not the internal

- 1 cadres who must be smashed; they are world public opinion and
- 2 diplomacy.
- 3 [10.19.02]
- 4 And the Co-Prosecutors also chose to omit the final brief
- 5 sentence immediately following this paragraph: "This is normal."
- 6 End of quote.
- 7 In the second excerpt from this document, Pol Pot is quoted as
- 8 saying at ERN: English, 00143467; Khmer, 00072761; and French,
- 9 00548899; and I quote:
- 10 "Defend the revolutionary state authority, the fruits of the
- 11 revolution; defend the Party, the people, the Army, independence,
- 12 sovereignty [against] every form of enemy activity, both overt
- 13 and covert. We must always be in high revolutionary [diligence],
- 14 always be in mastery." End of quote.
- 15 Again, Mr. President, this perfectly innocent call to ensure that
- 16 the national defence of the country is protected can anyone
- 17 imagine how badly a state would fail if it did not seek to defend
- 18 its independence and sovereignty against overt and covert
- 19 threats? but this perfectly innocent call is made even more
- 20 innocuous by including the portions deliberately and consciously
- 21 omitted by the Prosecution, because the sentence which
- 22 immediately follows is this and I quote:
- 23 "We can be in mastery only when we train [or] educate the masses
- 24 in every ministry and office and in the Army, in the
- 25 cooperatives, the unions, etc. Therefore, do not think about

38

1 committees. Only when the entire masses absorb, only when we use

- 2 the masses as our eyes and as our noses will we be able to
- 3 defend, to be in mastery."
- 4 [10.21.05]
- 5 Thus, Mr. President, Your Honours, as with the June 1976
- 6 "Revolutionary Flag" which we discussed earlier, defence comes
- 7 about through education. And, once again, this has nothing at all
- 8 to do with violence.
- 9 The next document is a speech given by Pol Pot to the
- 10 Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea in July 1975. The document is -
- 11 number is E3/5. And, once again, it's nothing more than an
- 12 instruction that, even though the CPK won the war, they must
- 13 continue to be vigilant about opponents of the revolution.
- 14 Now, what in this speech does the Prosecution complain about,
- 15 exactly? Was it untrue that "the mission of the army is to defend
- 16 the country"? Was it untrue that imperialism and colonialism was
- 17 a continuing threat to Cambodia and to Communism in April 1975?
- 18 Was it untrue that capitalists and feudalists should be expected
- 19 to "resist" a Communist revolution and seize back state power?
- 20 Was it untrue that they were likely to "use every tactic"? Is it
- 21 criminal to be "vigilant" in defending a state against both
- 22 internal threats and foreign states? Could the Prosecution name a
- 23 country that is not "vigilant" in defending itself?
- 24 [10.22.45]
- 25 Neither is the instruction to "smash" espionage groups and

- 1 saboteurs an order to kill anyone. And how do we know that, Mr.
- 2 President? Because in the very same document, on the very same
- 3 page in fact, in the very next sentence, immediately following
- 4 one of the excerpts read out by the Co-Prosecution -
- 5 Co-Prosecutors in Court Pol Pot is quoted as describing the
- 6 objective of the feudalists and the capitalists as follows: "To
- 7 destroy the revolution, to smash the revolution, and to seize
- 8 state power back from us."
- 9 Now, unless the meaning of the word "smash" changed from one
- 10 sentence to the next, there is no question at all that it was
- 11 intended metaphorically.
- 12 I'm mindful of the time, Mr. President. I'm going to a last set
- 13 of documents. I could pause here or I could continue. It's up, of
- 14 course, to you. Continue?
- 15 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 16 You may continue for about five more minutes.
- 17 [10.24.12]
- 18 MR. KOPPE:
- 19 The last set of documents, Mr. President, Your Honours, I'm going
- 20 to make reference to is a long sequence of telegrams. This was a
- 21 fairly substantial part of the discussion, and it runs from pages
- 22 79 through 95 of the English language June 25 draft transcript.
- 23 Now, most of these documents concern implementation and are
- 24 outside the scope of this trial. The only reason I refer to them
- 25 is because some of them purport to copy either our client, Nuon

- 1 Chea, or an entity such as Committee 870 or Angkar.
- 2 To the extent that the Chamber concludes that some of these
- 3 telegrams were intended for Nuon Chea, among others, they might
- 4 be considered relevant to the question of his role. That subject
- 5 was covered in more detail the following day, on June 27th. And,
- 6 in fact, I think some of these telegrams were presented again on
- 7 June 27. And all this will be addressed later by my colleague Son
- 8 Arun. But since many of these documents were presented during
- 9 this segment, I just want to make two brief points; and, again,
- 10 my colleague will make some similar arguments.
- 11 [10.25.40]
- 12 We count 12 telegrams and reports that were presented in this
- 13 segment. The earliest document is from March 1976. The document
- 14 number is E3/871. I think, if the Chamber has a look at that
- 15 particular document, you'll see it doesn't say much of any
- 16 interest. The next document, which does not copy Nuon Chea, is
- 17 dated August 1976. And the next document after that is from March
- 18 1977.
- 19 So, basically, the Co-Prosecutors were able to find zero
- 20 documents showing our client's role in relation to enemies,
- 21 within the temporal jurisdiction of this specific segment of the
- 22 trial. Their earliest document is almost two full years after
- 23 Tuol Po Chrey, which is the only allegation at issue in this
- 24 segment of the trial which concerns an identifiable enemy.
- 25 The second point I would like to to make is that none of these

- 1 documents show that Nuon Chea took any action of any kind. They
- 2 just purport to show him receiving some documents. And needless
- 3 to say, I am not suggesting that any of this is actually
- 4 relevant. I am merely making these two very specific
- 5 observations.
- 6 [10.27.06]
- 7 Now, Mr. President, that concludes my one-by-one discussion of
- 8 the Prosecution's documents in relation to the JCE policy on
- 9 enemies.
- 10 But to complete our response, these documents must be placed in a
- 11 greater context, and this greater context, with your leave, I
- 12 would like to describe after the break.
- 13 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 14 Thank you, Counsel.
- 15 It is now appropriate moment already for the adjournment. The
- 16 Chamber will adjourn for 20 minutes. The next session will be
- 17 resumed by 10 to 11.00.
- 18 (Court recesses from 1028H to 1051H)
- 19 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 20 Please be seated. The Court is now back in session.
- 21 I hand over the floor to the defence team for Mr. Nuon Chea to
- 22 resume your comments or observations on the key documents
- 23 presented by the Co-Prosecutors and Lead Co-Lawyers for civil
- 24 parties. You may proceed.
- 25 MR. KOPPE:

- 1 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 2 I've been told that I'm going much too fast for the translators
- 3 to keep up, so I suppose I do have to slow down. And if I go too
- 4 fast, I hopefully will be hearing that.
- 5 Mr. President, Your Honours, before the break I concluded my
- 6 one-by-one discussion of the Prosecution's documents in relation
- 7 to the JCE policy on enemies. But to complete our response, these
- 8 documents, of course, must be placed in a greater context. The
- 9 statements about so-called enemies made by or on behalf of the
- 10 CPK leaders are no different from the rhetoric routinely used by
- 11 world leaders everywhere.
- 12 [10.54.02]
- 13 The idea that the CPK had a policy of killing enemies is
- 14 something like saying that every state which has an army has a
- 15 policy of war. Protecting its government and its citizens against
- 16 internal and external enemies is part of the core function of
- 17 what states do.
- 18 If you allow me and I'll be very brief, Mr. President on this,
- 19 but if you allow me, let us look at some examples.
- 20 In a speech broadcast proudly to the world in September 2011,
- 21 President George Bush of the United States described his
- 22 determination to find and kill the enemies of the United States:
- 23 "We will find those who did it. We will smoke them out-"
- 24 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 25 Counsel, could you please hold on?

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 And, Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed.
- 2 [10.55.10]
- 3 MR. LYSAK:
- 4 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 5 Counsel has already been told to limit himself to the documents
- 6 in this case. Now he's attempting to present evidence about
- 7 speeches by other world leaders. This is not evidence that is
- 8 part of this trial. I don't want to interfere in his
- 9 presentation, but I think he is well exceeding the proper scope,
- 10 permissible basis of responding to the documents that were
- 11 presented by the Co-Prosecutors.
- 12 MR. KOPPE:
- 13 Mr. President, if I may reply, I'm not presenting evidence; I'm
- 14 trying to picture a general a more general context. I'm quoting
- 15 four lines of a speech that everybody in this courtroom,
- 16 everybody in the world knows about. It's not evidence; it's a
- 17 matter of general knowledge.
- 18 I'll be doing I'll be giving some other quotes two or three
- 19 more just to picture the broader context. It's not presenting
- 20 any evidence.
- 21 (Judges deliberate)
- 22 [10.57.05]
- 23 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 24 The objection by the Co-Prosecutor regarding the way the
- 25 presentation is made is appropriate.

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Counsel is advised to present his position regarding how he would
- 2 like to respond to the key documents on the facts presented in
- 3 the case file, other than going beyond the scope, as indicated.
- 4 MR. KOPPE:
- 5 I was I was merely trying, Mr. President and I will I will
- 6 not quote I had some nice quotes for you, actually. I will not
- 7 quote, but I my intent was merely to put it in a broader
- 8 context. The policy of speaking, by the CPK, of internal and
- 9 external enemies is exactly what the United States has been doing
- 10 recently and in the Second World War, when it, for instance, came
- 11 to the internment of Japanese people in the U.S. It's a pity.
- 12 Well, I will move on to the actual targeting of Lon Nol
- 13 officials, Mr. President, Your Honours, and that is the alleged
- 14 CPK policy to execute former soldiers and officials of the Lon
- 15 Nol regime.
- 16 [10.58.40]
- 17 As the Chamber knows, we vigorously dispute the existence of this
- 18 supposed policy. And the more this Chamber hears of the
- 19 Prosecution's offer of proof, the more obvious it becomes that no
- 20 real evidence exists and that there was no policy.
- 21 Now, we will spend quite a bit of time on this this topic, so
- 22 allow me, Mr. President, to give you a short roadmap of how our
- 23 presentation will progress. It will have three parts.
- 24 First, we are going to offer the Chamber some general
- 25 observations about the limitations of the documentary evidence

- 1 before the Chamber. This is, as you will, a general summary of
- 2 the kinds of weaknesses we are seeing in these documents.
- 3 Second, we will go through the documents that the Prosecution
- 4 presented. We will do this fairly thoroughly and try to show the
- 5 Chamber how these general weaknesses apply across all of the
- 6 evidence.
- 7 And thirdly, we will talk a little bit about our own analysis of
- 8 the witness statements on the case file witness statements
- 9 quoted earlier by the Prosecution. We will show that these
- 10 statements are chronically unreliable, that they say nothing of
- 11 substance, and indeed, that in many ways they affirmatively
- 12 disprove the Co-Prosecutors' claim that the CPK set out to target
- 13 soldiers and officials of the Khmer Republic.
- 14 [11.00.42]
- 15 Mr. President, permit me to begin with some general comments in
- 16 respect of these documents.
- 17 Sometimes the most important thing about the evidence in a case
- 18 is what it does not include. What does the evidence not include
- 19 in this case?
- 20 The first thing it does not include and I have we haven't
- 21 heard in the in the presentation is a single piece of
- 22 physical evidence that a single soldier was executed anywhere in
- 23 Cambodia. There are no exhumed mass graves and no dead bodies,
- 24 there is no forensic analysis. Now, this is not standard practice
- 25 in a murder investigation; it is not standard practice at

1 international courts. In Yugoslavia, investigators went out to

- 2 the field, they dug up graves, they found bodies all together in
- 3 one place, and they were able to determine when those people were
- 4 killed and how. Now, that is proof; that is evidence.
- 5 [11.01.55]
- 6 The other thing the documentary evidence doesn't include is a
- 7 single witness to a single execution of a single soldier. Now, we
- 8 are going to talk about this in much greater detail greater
- 9 detail later, when we go through the evidence, the documentary
- 10 evidence, and talk about those witness statements. But for now,
- 11 Mr. President, let me give this let me give the Chamber this
- 12 one takeaway conclusion: Not a single one of those witnesses
- 13 witnessed a single killing. Even in an ordinary, domestic murder
- 14 investigation, the fact that there was no body no body no
- 15 evidence of the time, or place, or method of death, and no
- 16 eyewitness account would make a conviction nearly impossible. Our
- 17 client is being accused of mass murder. The charges are serious,
- 18 and the documentary evidence should logically be more plentiful,
- 19 and not less, and the standards that we apply in this courtroom
- 20 should be at least as high.
- 21 As defence lawyers, we have only one anxiety about the evidence
- $22\,$  that has been presented about the supposed policy to execute Lon
- 23 Nol soldiers and officials. It is not that the evidence is
- 24 strong; it is that the evidence is so weak, so weak that we have
- 25 become accustomed to it in this courtroom. We fear that, to use

- 1 an English expression, the Prosecution is "moving the goalposts".
- 2 In other words, they are changing the standards by which these
- 3 kinds of charges are usually judged.
- 4 [11.03.52]
- 5 And we would urge the Chamber to guard against that. We would
- 6 urge this Chamber to ensure that the documentary evidence is held
- 7 to the high standard which the law requires.
- 8 Now, I don't mean to say that a murder case can't be
- 9 circumstantial. It can be if the evidence, of course, is strong
- 10 enough. But the fact that there is literally no direct evidence
- 11 of any kind is meaningful. It should make this Chamber insist
- 12 that the circumstantial evidence on offer is especially
- 13 compelling.
- 14 With that in mind, I would like to call your attention, Mr.
- 15 President, to a systematic flaw in that documentary evidence. It
- 16 is in both the witness statements and the document itself. The
- 17 flaw is that almost none of those documents presented by the
- 18 Prosecution say anything about killing. They talk about the
- 19 alleged victims being I quote "separated", "taken away",
- 20 "arrested", "sent to Angkar". But without any evidence that any
- 21 of those people were killed and there is none those documents
- 22 show nothing of relevance to this trial. The Chamber this
- 23 Chamber is being urged to conclude that because people were
- 24 targeted they must necessarily have been killed. But that
- 25 inference, Mr. President, is far too aggressive. It is not

- 1 supported by the evidence. And on appeal, the aggression of that
- 2 inference, obviously, will not stand.
- 3 [11.05.52]
- 4 There are numerous ways in which we can show the Chamber the
- 5 danger of inferring inferring murder merely from evidence of
- 6 targeting. Now, if you will allow me, let us look at three brief
- 7 examples.
- 8 One example is from a witness who testified recently before the
- 9 Chamber. His name was Nou Mouk. He testified on June 20. During
- 10 the Co-Prosecutors' examination, Nou Mouk described an instance-
- 11 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 12 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed.
- 13 MR. LYSAK:
- 14 I'm sorry to have to get on my feet again, Your Honours, but this
- 15 is a point that I raised at the start, and counsel is, I believe,
- 16 veering far from the purpose of this proceedings.
- 17 [11.06.49]
- 18 We are going to have final arguments. Counsel is entitled, in
- 19 final arguments, to address issues about burden of proof, to talk
- 20 about the witness testimony. This is not the time to be making
- 21 final closing arguments, and counsel's now attempting to read
- 22 from part of the testimony of a witness and make overall comments
- 23 about the burden of proof, which we strenuously disagree with,
- 24 but more to the point, is not part of the purpose of the current
- 25 proceedings.

- 1 So, we would object to the use to counsel, at this point,
- 2 reading testimony trial testimony and making comments about
- 3 that.
- 4 MR. KOPPE:
- 5 Mr. President, my intention was to paraphrase one or two
- 6 sentences from this trial transcript, and not making any closing
- 7 arguments. I'm just trying to establish the probative value of
- 8 documents in relation to what a one specific witness because
- 9 I only use one witness has actually testified. So, it's all
- 10 about the context in respect to the probative value, and not
- 11 making an argument or closing argument about the value of Nou
- 12 Mouk. I'm just using him as a frame of reference in respect of
- 13 the probative value of these particular documents. That's what
- 14 I'm doing; nothing more.
- 15 (Judges deliberate)
- 16 [11.10.11]
- 17 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 18 The objection by the Co-Prosecutor regarding the presentation by
- 19 Counsel Koppe is appropriate.
- 20 Counsel is now instructed to make sure that the observation is
- 21 made relevant to the key documents presented by the other
- 22 counsels, rather than presenting the confession.
- 23 MR. KOPPE:
- 24 Very well, Mr. President. I intended to give you four examples,
- 25 actually not three, but for examples showing the danger of

- 1 inferring murder merely from evidence of targeting. I will now
- 2 use only three examples. I will not speak about Nou Mouk.
- 3 My other example my second example is the following, and that
- 4 is an example from a telegram the Prosecution presented to this
- 5 Chamber. The document number is E3/807.
- 6 [11.11.32]
- 7 We will address the claim which the Prosecution makes about this
- 8 document soon, but for now, I would like to point the Chamber to
- 9 one sentence in this specific document. The document states and
- 10 I quote 'the children of soldiers, sub district chiefs, and
- 11 police were purged and sent to do production in one place".
- 12 Now, what we are interested in is the word "purge". Many
- 13 documents, as you know, use the word "purge". And typically the
- 14 Prosecution asks the Chamber to interpret that word to mean
- 15 "execute". But obviously, in this particular document, it
- 16 doesn't. Obviously it just means "separate", because you can't be
- 17 killed and then sent to do production.
- 18 A third example or now a second example is from Philip
- 19 Short's book, document E3/9. I'll quote from English ERN
- 20 00396488. There is no Khmer translation, and my apologies that we
- 21 don't have the French ERN. According to Short, during the
- 22 evacuation of Phnom Penh, factory workers factory workers were
- 23 separated from the general population. Short comments: "When
- 24 nothing further was heard from them, many deportees concluded
- 25 that they had been killed. In fact, "so says Short, "most had

51

1 been taken to Phnom Penh to help restore production in the

- 2 factories where they had worked previously."
- 3 [11.13.18]
- 4 Another example, Mr. President, is that one that we had already
- 5 seen: even the word "smash" does not always mean "kill". And we
- 6 showed that further up in our discussion of document number E3/5.
- 7 The limitations in the in this evidence are such that even if
- 8 no contrary evidence existed, the Chamber would be incapable of
- 9 making the remarkable conclusion that a countrywide policy to
- 10 execute all Khmer Republic soldiers and officials existed. But
- 11 contrary, evidence does exist. The Prosecution's evidence is not
- 12 just insufficient on its face; there are countless statements
- 13 which show clearly that the Party Centre explicitly instructed
- 14 their troops and cadres not to execute soldiers. We're going to
- 15 read some of those statements for you later in this morning, or
- 16 probably this afternoon.
- 17 [11.14.22]
- 18 There are statements from people who worked directly with Nuon
- 19 Chea, Pol Pot, and others within the core of the Party Centre,
- 20 and these are people who were relied on repeatedly by the
- 21 Investigating Judges in the Closing Order. They were relied on by
- 22 the experts summonsed by this Chamber as key insider witnesses.
- 23 And they say: No, Nuon Chea and Pol Pot did not order the
- 24 execution of the soldiers of the last regime. There are other
- 25 statements from soldiers in the field who state their

- 1 instructions were not to kill soldiers captured in battle. Unlike
- 2 the Prosecution's systematically flawed documentary evidence, all
- 3 of these statements contain first-hand evidence. All of them are
- 4 from witnesses who were in the position to know the facts they
- 5 are telling us.
- 6 These were some general observations, Mr. President. Let me now
- 7 begin to discuss the specific documents presented by the
- 8 Co-Prosecutors.
- 9 And let me begin that discussing that discussion by quoting
- 10 some of the first words of that presentation. The Co-Prosecutors
- 11 said the following and this is at page 98 of the draft
- 12 transcript for June 26; they said, and I quote:
- 13 "Let me now turn to the documents that answer a question that
- 14 Nuon Chea's counsel has asked a number of time, which is: Where
- 15 are the documents that show the policy targeting Lon Nol
- officials and soldiers?" End of quote.
- 17 [11.16.14]
- 18 Now, Mr. President, Your Honours, I have to admit that when I
- 19 heard that, I got excited. I remember I was sitting here in this
- 20 chair, and I think I even sat forward a little bit, and I suppose
- 21 I was excited for a couple of reasons.
- 22 One is just that it was good to find that the Prosecution has
- 23 been listening to the Nuon Chea defence team. We weren't sure of
- 24 that before. But then they chose to spend a substantial part of
- 25 their presentation on the documents about this alleged policy of

53

1 targeting Lon Nol officials. And I realized, Mr. President, that

- 2 we are actually on the same page; we're both concerned about
- 3 whether any actual evidence of this policy exists.
- 4 And the second reason I was excited is that I felt like we were
- 5 about to hear something really interesting. Here was the
- 6 Prosecution telling us at long last, "Here are the documents
- 7 you've been waiting for." And it will not be a surprise, Mr.
- 8 President, that if I admit that I was a bit it was a bit of a
- 9 let-down, because then the Co-Prosecutors actually presented
- 10 their documents. And as they came up on the screen, those
- 11 documents failed completely and totally to give this Court even a
- 12 glimmer of evidence that anybody in the Party Centre ever
- 13 formulated a policy of any kind to execute former soldiers and
- 14 officials of the Khmer Republic. Indeed, even the excerpts of the
- 15 documents which the Co-Prosecutors quoted in Court sometimes tend
- 16 to establish that the Party Centre did not intend to execute
- 17 former officials of the Khmer Republic.
- 18 [11.18.18]
- 19 To show that, Mr. President, I will now go through those
- 20 documents in some detail and I will follow the order of the
- 21 Prosecution's presentation.
- 22 First, the Prosecution presented two documents intended to show
- 23 the ideological foundations of the supposed policy to execute Lon
- 24 Nol officials. The first document was a 1974 issue of
- 25 "Revolutionary Youth". The document number was E3/146. The second

- 1 was an October 1976 issue of "Revolutionary Flag", and that
- 2 document number was E3/10.
- 3 Let me first repeat, Mr. President, the observations I made
- 4 earlier concerning with the Prosecution's use of similar
- 5 documents in connection with the so-called "enemies policy".
- 6 It is apparent that these documents are manifestly inadequate to
- 7 establish the existence of a concrete policy to execute specific
- 8 people. They offer only the most general prescriptions about
- 9 class divisions. The Chamber should take heed of the
- 10 Prosecution's use of these documents as an indication of how weak
- 11 the overall body of documentary evidence must truly be.
- 12 [11.20.07]
- 13 But even if we did accept this evidence on the Prosecution's own
- 14 terms, we would find that they have seriously misrepresented to
- 15 the Chamber what it says. They have selectively quoted from it to
- 16 badly distort its meaning. And we can only assume that the
- 17 Prosecution understands well how disproportionate the resources
- 18 are on each side of this aisle and are hoping that the defence
- 19 teams have no time to verify these documents.
- 20 The Prosecution uses the first document, E3/146, for definitions
- 21 of two types of classes: the feudalist aristocratic class and the
- 22 intellectual second capitalist class. As the Co-Prosecutors
- 23 rightly say at ERN: English, 00538746; Khmer, 00283409; and
- 24 French, 00611810 the document defines the
- 25 feudalist-aristocratic class to include the "king and high-rank

- 1 officials such as minister, provincial governor, and district
- 2 governor, down to the Commune chief and 'chumtub' [clerk]".
- 3 [11.21.38]
- 4 The Co-Prosecutors then skipped the next page. That's not
- 5 surprising, since it says the following and I quote:
- 6 "Our attitude toward these groups is that we have to persuade
- 7 them to join the Front and then to eliminate their political
- 8 stance and their old ideology by educating them continuously. But
- 9 it is important that we redistribute land to them and have them
- 10 do labour work to produce food to support themselves." End of
- 11 quote.
- 12 Further down in that same page, the document describes a
- 13 different kind of feudalist class, which it calls the
- 14 feudalist-landowner class, and these include and I quote -
- 15 "persons who own land and have their power to control land" end
- 16 of quote.
- 17 And then, just one paragraph further down, it states and I
- 18 quote again:
- 19 "We should not we should not attack them constantly. We must
- 20 know how to persuade them to join in the front rank, but we
- 21 always have to be cautious with them. We should struggle with
- 22 them to diminish their influence by reducing their rice paddy to
- 23 as little as what the other peasants have." End of quote.
- 24 [11.23.18]
- 25 Having skipped, Mr. President, Your Honours, this rather

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 interesting page, the Co-Prosecutors then misrepresented the
- 2 document even more egregiously by citing the definition of the
- 3 "intellectual second capitalist class" the second -
- 4 "intellectual second capitalist", at English ERN 00538746; Khmer,
- 5 00283409; and French, 00611810. The Co-Prosecutors rightly say
- 6 that this this class includes quote "students and civil
- 7 servants who mainly use their intelligence for living" end of
- 8 quote but they leave out the paragraph immediately before and
- 9 the sentence immediately after.
- 10 A fuller quote reads as follows:
- 11 "The second capitalist class.
- 12 "To speak conclusively, this is called the mediocre middle class.
- 13 They do not oppress anyone, but they are not oppressed by anyone
- 14 either. Their economic interest is mediocre, and so is their
- 15 political interest. They live peacefully."
- 16 [11.24.40]
- 17 Then it continues:
- 18 "There are 2 types of second capitalists:
- 19 "1. Intellectual second capitalists: These include students and
- 20 civil servants who mainly use their intelligence for living.
- 21 Their important point is that they are patriotic; they love
- 22 revolution and want to do the revolution because they, to some
- 23 extent, are oppressed by the enemy. Another strong point is that
- 24 they can understand and see the idea and theory quickly.
- 25 "But their weak points are: They are afraid of hardship; they 57

1 want to stay peacefully alone; and they absorb the revolutionary

- 2 line slowly. This is because they rarely received any hardship
- 3 and were not badly oppressed by the enemy." End of quote.
- 4 The Prosecution's treatment of the second document, E3/10, Mr.
- 5 President, was less dishonest. Not surprisingly, it is also it
- 6 also proves nothing pernicious. Indeed, it explicitly recognizes
- 7 that capitalists and feudalists can reform they can reform. It
- 8 also explains that government officials, policemen, soldiers and
- 9 students were not themselves the instigators, but that when the
- 10 capitalists and feudalists held power, they paid I quote they
- 11 "paid government agents to show their faces" end of quote. And
- 12 the implication is, now that they do not hold power, they, and
- 13 not their agents, are the targets.
- 14 [11.26.40]
- 15 Next, the Prosecution presented an excerpt from an interview
- 16 given by Ieng Sary in April 1978. The document number is E3/707.
- 17 In the excerpt quoted by the Prosecution, Ieng Sary and I quote
- 18 "described the different forces within the Kampuchea ruling
- 19 class at that time, indicating three broad groupings. On the far
- 20 right, there were those like Lon Nol, who were completely
- 21 reactionary and nothing but lackeys of foreign imperialism. In
- 22 the centre stood Sihanouk, the Head of State, and some others
- 23 like him, who, while opposing communism, also supported a policy
- 24 of genuine political independence for the country. And on the
- 25 left were progressive people like Khieu Samphan, today's

- 1 President of the State Presidium, who at that time was a
- 2 well-known intellectual and politician" end of quote.
- 3 Your Honours, I could probably spend my whole day just talking
- 4 about how little this one quote has to do with any allegation in
- 5 this trial.
- 6 Firstly, it is apparent that Ieng Sary is speaking here of the
- 7 very highest ranking members of the Cambodian political class. He
- 8 himself he himself calls them the "ruling class". It says
- 9 nothing about military officers, let alone ordinary soldiers.
- 10 [11.28.42]
- 11 Second, it is once again once a vague political analysis. It
- 12 doesn't so much as hint that anybody, even Lon Nol himself, ought
- 13 to be executed.
- 14 Third, it is almost as if the Prosecution forgets that Ieng Sary
- 15 is describing a moment in time during which he was one of the
- 16 leaders of a rebel movement fighting fighting a civil war
- 17 against Lon Nol. Does the Prosecution expect Ieng Sary to
- 18 compliment Lon Nol's leadership skills? Under the circumstances,
- 19 his language could be only described as mild.
- 20 But fourth and maybe most important, is there anyone in this
- 21 courtroom that seriously doubts this analysis of Ieng Sary? Of
- 22 course Lon Nol was a client of the United States, of course he
- 23 was bound to the United States; he was also exceptionally
- 24 corrupt.
- 25 Most of the evidence before this Court shows that the wealthy

59

1 merchant class in Phnom Penh, whom the Prosecution would seek to

- 2 place first on the list of enemies of the CPK, also hated Lon
- 3 Nol. Ieng Sary's opposition to Lon Nol shows exactly nothing
- 4 about the CPK attitude toward any segment of the population.
- 5 [11.30.23]
- 6 There is only one interesting thing about this quote, which is
- 7 that according to Ieng Sary, Sihanouk is not a right-wing
- 8 reactionary, but a middle-ground supporter of Cambodia's
- 9 political independence. By 1975, Sihanouk represented an
- 10 infinitely larger segment of the population than Lon Nol; Lon
- 11 Nol, Mr. President, didn't represent any segment of the
- 12 population at all.
- 13 Now, the Prosecution quoted from one more section of this
- 14 document, which I will reiterate as well for the Chamber and I
- 15 quote: "We mobilized both the middle and left sections of the
- 16 ruling class, " says Sary, "and built a united front with them
- 17 against foreign domination. We isolated the real traitors, like
- 18 Lon Nol." End quote.
- 19 Now, our last comments apply equally to this excerpt. It is
- 20 hardly surprising or interesting that Ieng Sary described the
- 21 leader of the government he was seeking to overthrow as a
- 22 traitor. Lon Nol was giving his tacit permission to the United
- 23 States to obliterate the Cambodian countryside, using B-52 bombs.
- 24 How many people in Cambodia in April 1975 did not see Lon Nol as
- 25 a traitor? How many people did not believe that Lon Nol had

- 1 forsaken Cambodia to the Americans? Did every person who thought
- 2 Lon Nol was a traitor want to execute ordinary soldiers? The
- 3 document, Mr. President, is absurd on its face.
- 4 [11.32.28]
- 5 Next, the Prosecution cited a series of documents describing
- 6 messages sent by the Khmer Rouge in the last days of the war. I
- 7 will list those documents quickly for the benefit of the Chamber.
- 8 They are: E3/783, /117, 334, 120, and E3/118. Now, most of the
- 9 excerpts cited by the Co-Prosecutors repeat the call for the
- 10 execution of the so-called seven "super traitors". Others
- 11 describe other happenings during the final days before 17 April
- 12 1975.
- 13 Firstly, Mr. President, let us deal once and for all with this
- 14 question of the so-called seven "super traitors". The
- 15 Co-Prosecutors insist on returning to this issue time and again,
- 16 yet the alleged crime itself is not within the scope of the
- 17 trial, and the message which surrounded it was precisely that
- 18 everyone other than the "super traitors" would be spared. So,
- 19 even if those communications cited by the Prosecution do reflect
- 20 an intent to kill those exact seven people, they also show the
- 21 opposite as to everyone else, including the alleged victims
- 22 crimes who actually are at issue in this trial.
- 23 Other-
- 24 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 25 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed.

- 1 [11.34.26]
- 2 MR. LYSAK:
- 3 Thank you, Mr. President. I will make an objection here.
- 4 I let a lot go; this is counsel's opportunity. But he continues
- 5 to make rather serious misstatements, in this proceeding, about
- 6 the scope of this trial. He's made many such misstatements
- 7 already, but this one is important not to let go.
- 8 There is no question, if he would read the Closing Order, that
- 9 the executions of the two seven (sic) "super traitors" who
- 10 remained in Phnom Penh is part of the scope of this trial; it is
- 11 directly referenced and included in the charges relating to the
- 12 first forced movement. And for counsel to stand up and make this
- 13 representation is incorrect. This is his opportunity to address
- 14 documents, but it is not an opportunity to mislead about the
- 15 scope of the trial.
- 16 [11.35.27]
- 17 MR. KOPPE:
- 18 Mr. President, I think we have all read the Closing Order, and
- 19 it's our position that the killing of these "super traitors" is
- 20 not specifically part of the Closing Order. That's why we are
- 21 making the argument.
- 22 Of course, primarily, we are making the argument that from the
- 23 documents in respect of the killing of the seven "super
- 24 traitors", no probative value can be deducted when it comes to
- 25 the targeting and killing of, let's say, normal Lon Nol officials

- 1 or soldiers.
- 2 That is our position, and if the Prosecution disagrees, that's -
- 3 that's fine. But it is our position.
- 4 (Judges deliberate)
- 5 [11.38.10]
- 6 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 7 Counsel for Mr. Nuon Chea, you may resume.
- 8 MR. KOPPE:
- 9 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 10 My other point in respect of the seven "super traitors" is that
- 11 other sections of the quoted documents only reinforce our
- 12 impression.
- 13 Co-Prosecutors quote, from document number E3/118, a statement on
- 14 FUNK radio by Khieu Samphan. Describing the Lon Nol Government
- 15 Leadership Community on April 13, Khieu Samphan says and I
- 16 quote:
- 17 "This Supreme Committee does not represent anyone but a few
- 18 traitors. The creation of this organization is an anti-national
- 19 and anti-popular act designed to continue the treachery of the
- 20 last bunch of traitors. For this reason, " Khieu Samphan says,
- 21 "all brother countrymen in Phnom Penh and the few provincial
- 22 capitals still under temporary enemy control should unite their
- 23 strength and overturn this treacherous organization." End of
- 24 quote.
- 25 [11.39.42]

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 We believe that Khieu Samphan's message is very clear: all
- 2 Cambodians should act together against the tiny group of leaders
- 3 at the very highest level of the government. Most striking in
- 4 this quote is Khieu Samphan's reference to and I quote "all
- 5 brother countrymen in Phnom Penh", which definitively refutes the
- 6 Prosecution's claim that city-dwellers were treated as enemies in
- 7 April 1975. Those "brother countrymen" included any officials of
- 8 the former regime outside of the Supreme Committee.
- 9 Mr. President, the next group of documents continue on this
- 10 general theme. They too all concern this very small group of
- 11 individuals at the very top of the Lon Nol regime in Phnom Penh.
- 12 The document numbers are: E3/2694, E3/2700, E3/2702, D365/1.1.39,
- 13 and E3/604.
- 14 The first three documents are communications from Jean Dyrac, the
- 15 ranking diplomat in the French Embassy, and the final two
- 16 documents are articles from the "Washington Post" and the
- 17 "Bangkok Post", respectively.
- 18 [11.41.41]
- 19 All five documents combined purport to describe only three
- 20 executions: two of the seven "super traitors", and Lon Non, Lon
- 21 Nol's brother. Jean Dyrac's telegrams say that 100 people were
- 22 expected to surrender as prisoners to the Khmer Rouge the
- 23 following day as prisoners. There's no evidence of who those
- 24 people were and there is no evidence from this document of what
- 25 happened to those people.

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 The next document, Mr. President, Your Honours, we readily admit,
- 2 is arguably the best piece of evidence the Prosecution came up
- 3 with. It is an execution order from Comrade Pin, and it is
- 4 document number is E3/832. It is, at least, nominally relevant,
- 5 which by itself sets it apart from the rest of the documents
- 6 presented by the prosecutors, and if it were the 15th or 20th
- 7 piece of evidence, it might even be compelling.
- 8 [11.43.08]
- 9 But all this document shows is that an order was delivered by
- 10 Comrade Pin to somebody to execute 17 specific people. It does
- 11 not show who the order came from or to whom it was delivered. The
- 12 fact that the order ostensibly came from quote "the Party"
- 13 proves, of course, nothing. The Chamber has heard testimony that
- 14 cadres at all levels used the label "Angkar" opportunistically to
- 15 exercise their own petty authority. Pin's use of the phrase -
- 16 quote "the Party" does not mean anything literal, including
- 17 that he was implementing an order from a superior.
- 18 The document also clearly shows that whoever did decide to
- 19 execute these 17 people, if indeed someone did, it was not
- 20 because of their military position. The document specifically
- 21 states, the alleged victims were and I quote "examined" -
- 22 unquote before a decision to execute them was made. Now, if a
- 23 policy to execute all soldiers or all officers existed, there
- 24 would be no need to "examine" any of them.
- 25 Next, in the document, to certain names, there are additional

- 1 indications that each person's loyalty was assessed.
- 2 [11.45.10]
- 3 Next to number 14, for instance, Eam Say, the document states the
- 4 following and I quote:
- 5 "He is a former teacher who was a traitor when he was a teacher.
- 6 In his biography, he criticizes us very strongly, using
- 7 psychological warfare. His responses show absolute support for
- 8 the Republic regime and opposition to the Revolution."
- 9 I'm referring, Mr. President, to ERN: English, 00068919; and
- 10 Khmer, 00068916.
- 11 And there the order also lists two other senior military officers
- 12 and a sub-district chief, noting and I quote: "Please keep for
- 13 examination the following named persons..." End of quote.
- 14 Now, that alone proves that even senior military officers were
- 15 not executed as a matter of policy.
- 16 Next, the Prosecution presented a 21 May 1976 news report from
- 17 "Agence France Presse" that 54 former generals were executed
- 18 shortly after 17 April 1975.
- 19 [11.46.35]
- 20 In general, Mr. President, the Prosecution's continued reliance
- 21 on news sources should again be an indicator to the Chamber of
- 22 the overall weakness of its documentary evidence, but this
- 23 document is especially unreliable, and has no probative value
- 24 whatsoever, and should be disregarded completely. Neither the
- 25 journalist nor the unnamed quote unquote "resistance

66

1 spokesman" who acts as the sole source is known. Even the

- 2 description of the source as a "resistance spokesman" is
- 3 confusing; resistance to whom? A resistance faction against Pol
- 4 Pot? If so, isn't the claim transparent anti-Khmer Rouge
- 5 propaganda, is the question.
- 6 And the article, Mr. President, Your Honours, is even more
- 7 unreliable because on the substance it makes no sense. It claims
- 8 that the list of generals was and I quote "sent to several
- 9 western governments" unquote. Now, why why would the CPK
- 10 execute 54 people and then announce to the world to the world
- 11 that they had done it? And if they did want to announce it to the
- 12 world, why would they quietly send the message to western
- 13 governments and not bluster about it in the "Revolutionary Flag",
- 14 as they did with the seven "super traitors"?
- 15 [11.48.33]
- 16 If it was disclosed to several governments, why isn't there any
- 17 evidence from any other source, aside from this single news
- 18 report from a single journalist? Why did the CPK suddenly decide
- 19 to reveal the executions 13 months after they happened? Why did
- 20 they "draw up a list" in December 1975, seven months after it
- 21 happened? And how did they contact Western governments without
- 22 any direct diplomatic relations? None of this, Mr. President,
- 23 Your Honours, makes any sense.
- 24 Next, the Co-Prosecutors discussed two biographies prepared by
- 25 cadres of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Those document numbers

- 1 are E3/3569 and E3/128. To us, it is apparent that these
- 2 documents mean absolutely nothing, so I will spend no time on
- 3 them. I will only say now, today, that they make no mention of
- 4 any execution or even ill treatment of anyone.
- 5 [11.50.12]
- 6 Next, Mr. President, the Co-Prosecutors supplied three different
- 7 S-21 prisoner lists.
- 8 Now, before we look at these specific documents, allow me to make
- 9 an obvious point: many different kinds of people are alleged to
- 10 have gone to S-21. According to the Closing Order, the total
- 11 number of Lon Nol soldiers allegedly killed at S-21 is 328. Now,
- 12 if our math is correct, that makes 2.5 per cent of the total of
- 13 12,000 prisoners. Is that a lot? Was the Lon Nol army more or
- 14 less than 2.5 per cent of the population? The Prosecution does
- 15 not say. So we just know these people were apparently Lon Nol
- 16 soldiers. But from this document, there is no evidence that any
- 17 of them were sent to S-21 because because they were Lon Nol
- 18 soldiers. There is no evidence that any one person went to S-21
- 19 because they were in the Lon Nol army.
- 20 Let us now look at the specific documents the Co-Prosecutors
- 21 presented. If we look at these documents carefully, we will see
- 22 that the first document proves the opposite of what the
- 23 Co-Prosecutors say it proves. It shows that no policy of
- 24 executing Lon Nol officials existed. And the other two documents
- 25 prove nothing at all; they have no probative value whatsoever.

- 1 [11.52.22]
- 2 The first document, Mr. President, is number E3/1539. It claims
- 3 that in one month, in March 1976, 162 Lon Nol officials and
- 4 soldiers were killed at S-21. If in fact 162 Lon Nol soldiers
- 5 were killed in March 1976, that only means they were not killed
- 6 for almost a whole year. If there had been a policy to execute
- 7 all Lon Nol soldiers, they would have been killed, most likely,
- 8 11 months earlier.
- 9 Also, the fact that from this document it seems to appear that
- 10 many soldiers were sent to S-21 all at once strongly suggests
- 11 that they were executed not because they were Lon Nol soldiers,
- 12 but for some other more specific reason. Obviously, something
- 13 happened in March 1976, but we don't know what that is. But it
- 14 isn't that the CPK suddenly decided to kill all Lon Nol soldiers.
- 15 The second document is E3/2189. The Co-Prosecutors say that this
- 16 document shows an effort to target Lon Nol officials because the
- 17 title of the document is and I quote "Prisoners who were
- 18 Government Officials" end of quote. According to OCP and I am
- 19 quoting them now "the very title that was given by S-21 to this
- 20 list reflects the targeting of government officials or civil
- 21 servants".
- 22 [11.54.40]
- 23 The Prosecution, however, did not show this document on the
- 24 screen. We think we know why: because it contains a total of six
- 25 names. We do not know why this document carries the title that it

- 1 does, but it is obvious it says nothing about any alleged policy.
- 2 And if it does, then it would be a very limited policy.
- 3 The third document was E3/3597. Some of the people on this list
- 4 are alleged to have been former soldiers and officials, and some
- 5 are not, but the Prosecution does not tell us how many of each,
- 6 nor is there any reason to believe that any of these people were
- 7 sent to S-21 because of their former position in the government.
- 8 It is also irrelevant.
- 9 The Co-Prosecutors then presented the minutes of a Standing
- 10 Committee meeting concerning the royal family. That is document
- 11 number E3/197. Again, it says nothing of any executions or any
- 12 kind of executions about the Lon Nol government or about the Lon
- 13 Nol government as such, and therefore it is completely irrelevant
- 14 and misses any probative value.
- 15 [11.56.25]
- 16 Then the Co-Prosecutors presented three military communications.
- 17 All three documents are, once again, irrelevant. The document
- 18 numbers are E3/1162, E3/183 (sic), and E3/807. All these
- 19 documents show is that in these particular units, soldiers were
- 20 monitored to see if they had any connection or loyalty to the
- 21 last regime, which is reasonable enough and certainly not out the
- 22 ordinary in a new revolutionary state.
- 23 I wanted to quote you something about every person of Japanese
- 24 ethnicity who was held for four years in internment camps in U.S.
- 25 during World War II, but I was not allowed to do so.

- 1 But here you see the direct relatives of people who actively
- 2 fought against the CPK treated a little bit differently from the
- 3 rest of the population.
- 4 Your Honours, what is the Prosecution's point when it comes to
- 5 these documents? We, at least, have no idea.
- 6 [11.57.47]
- 7 The next two sets of documents presented by the Co-Prosecutors
- 8 were a group of records from the Tram Kak cooperatives and then
- 9 three witness statements. We acknowledge that the Prosecution
- 10 described those witness statements as a sample of what they claim
- 11 to be a larger group. Mr. President, as we indicated earlier this
- 12 morning, we plan to present our own discussion of the witness
- 13 statements, and the three statements the Co-Prosecutors presented
- 14 are part of that discussion, and the Tram Kak records also relate
- 15 to those statements. But I'll if it pleases the Chamber, I'll
- 16 put those documents aside for now and move on to the
- 17 Co-Prosecutors' last few documents.
- 18 And I would say that it would be an appropriate moment, Mr.
- 19 President, to have the lunch break. Thank you.
- 20 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 21 Thank you, Counsel.
- 22 It is appropriate moment for lunch adjournment. The Chamber will
- 23 adjourn until 1.30 p.m.
- 24 Security personnel are now directed to bring Mr. Khieu Samphan to
- 25 his holding cell and have him returned to the courtroom by 1.30

- 1 p.m.
- 2 The Court is adjourned.
- 3 (Court recesses from 1159H to 1332H)
- 4 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 5 Please be seated. The Court is now back in session.
- 6 We would like to hand over to counsel for Mr. Nuon Chea to
- 7 continue his presentation and observation regarding the key
- 8 documents put by the Co-Prosecutors and the Lead Co-Lawyers for
- 9 the civil parties. You may now proceed.
- 10 MR. KOPPE:
- 11 Thank you, Mr. President. Good afternoon, Your Honours. Good
- 12 afternoon, Counsel.
- 13 I will continue with my comments on the probative value of the
- 14 documents presented in respect of the targeting of the Lon Nol
- 15 officials and military.
- 16 And I had arrived, before the lunch break, at the "Revolutionary
- 17 Flag" from August 1977, document number is E3/193. The
- 18 Prosecution claimed during it's presentation that this document
- 19 contains an instruction to execute Lon Nol soldiers in positions
- 20 of authority in cooperatives.
- 21 [13.34.33]
- 22 First, Mr. President, we would like to ask the Chamber to notice
- 23 that this particular document is dated two and a half years after
- 24 the events at Tuol Po Chrey. So, in our view, it is entirely
- 25 irrelevant to state policy as it existed in April 1975.

- 1 The substance of the document, in any case, contains only vague
- 2 ideology. It has no instruction or order to cause harm to anyone.
- 3 The Co-Prosecutors may have succeeded in giving the Chamber a
- 4 different impression during their presentations, but they did
- 5 that only through duplicity: by, as it were, stringing together
- 6 into one coherent paragraph three unrelated excerpts from three
- 7 different pages. They took one in passing reference to Lon Nol
- 8 soldiers out of context, they placed it next to a second out of
- 9 context instruction four pages later to quote "smash the
- 10 enemy", and then they invited the Chamber to conclude that cadres
- 11 were being instructed to smash Lon Nol soldiers. A closer review
- 12 of the document shows something much more benign.
- 13 [13.36.17]
- 14 At ERN English 00399234 to 35; Khmer, 00062963 to 4; and French,
- 15 00611839 to 40, the reference to Lon Nol soldiers is merely an
- 16 example of the non-peasant class in positions of authority in
- 17 certain cooperatives. To them, the reference is made. The
- 18 instruction to smash on page 17 was not an instruction to kill
- 19 people, but to eliminate ideology, and a fuller quote from that
- 20 section of the document reveals that. And I quote again and
- 21 this is a longer citation:
- 22 "Who holds the power in each cooperative? Generally speaking, in
- 23 the entire West Zone, in a large part we already control the
- 24 cooperatives and state power, meaning it is already in the hands
- 25 of the Party's worker-peasants. [...] It is still in the hands of

1 various other classes. And if it is in the hands of other

- 2 classes, have those classes come over to the side of the
- 3 revolution? No. They oppose the revolution. It is only a matter
- 4 of whether they oppose the revolution a little or a lot, whether
- 5 they antagonistically oppose or do not yet antagonistically
- 6 oppose. After we make this assessment, we have to prepare to lead
- 7 the cooperatives. Prepare what forces? Prepare the poor peasants
- 8 and the lower-middle class peasants to control the cooperatives,
- 9 to attack and smash the state power of other classes who stole
- 10 control from of our cooperatives and give it back to the poor
- 11 peasants and the lower-middle class peasants down below. Now we
- 12 have been able to screen and fight in the zone, able to fight in
- 13 the sectors, able to fight in the districts; but we have not yet
- 14 been able to fight in the cooperatives. It is imperative to
- 15 prepare forces to attack, attack and smash the enemy and the
- 16 no-good elements embedded inside and controlling the
- 17 cooperatives." End of quote.
- 18 [13.39.16]
- 19 We would like to ask the Chamber to recognize two things about
- 20 this larger quote: one is that the so-called other classes in
- 21 control of the cooperatives do not necessarily I quote -
- 22 "antagonistically oppose" the revolution; and the second is the
- 23 instruction to quote "smash the state power of other classes"
- 24 and then give that power quote "back to the poor peasants and
- 25 the lower-middle class peasants down below". Now, no policy to 74

1 execute former soldiers could possibly be inferred from this

- 2 document.
- 3 Mr. President, the final four documents in the presentation of
- 4 the Prosecution all purport to be military communications from
- 5 either the North or Northwest Zone and addressed to, either,
- 6 Committee 870, Angkar, or Brother Pol. The four documents are
- 7 similar: they all report that enemies have been recently
- 8 identified and state that some of them are former Lon Nol
- 9 soldiers.
- 10 [13.40.54]
- 11 One document states that they were arrested, and two do not say
- 12 what action, if any, was taken.
- 13 The last telegram states that the soldiers were purged. As we
- 14 have seen, that term can have different meanings. So, these final
- 15 four documents are literally the only four documents only four
- 16 key documents presented by the Co-Prosecutors which suggest that
- 17 anyone in the Party Centre was even aware that any action of any
- 18 kind was taken against any former Khmer Republic officials,
- 19 beyond beyond the seven "super traitors". None of these
- 20 documents say that the soldiers were killed. None of the
- 21 documents describe any action taken by the Party Centre. All of
- 22 the documents are dated long after the events at Tuol Po Chrey
- 23 took place. So they are not in any way probative of a policy to
- 24 execute all Khmer Republic soldiers and officials as of April
- 25 1975.

1 Mr. President, Your Honours, that concludes our discussion of the

- 2 Prosecution's statements the Prosecution's documents. We will
- 3 now turn to the final segment of our response with regard to this
- 4 alleged policy. We will present certain witness statements
- 5 tendered into evidence by the Co-Prosecutors.
- 6 [13.42.58]
- 7 Those statements will establish two things: first, the witnesses
- 8 who are best placed to know about both the intentions of the
- 9 Party Centre and the conduct of troops and cadres on the ground
- 10 consistently state testify that Lon Nol soldiers and officials
- 11 were unharmed; second, the evidence which the Prosecution
- 12 contends establishes a pattern of executions is systematically
- 13 unreliable, especially in the light of the direct evidence which
- 14 contradicts it.
- 15 Mr. President, with your leave, the first document we would like
- 16 to present is an excerpt from a video. The video is "One Day at
- 17 Po Chrey". You have seen portions from that video earlier. The
- 18 document number is E186.1R. The relevant passage in that video is
- 19 from, the timer, at 21 minutes up until 22 minutes and three
- 20 seconds. And in it, Nuon Chea states his own position about
- 21 whether a policy to execute former Lon Nol soldiers existed.
- 22 So, with you leave, Mr. President, I would like to show the
- 23 Chamber this minute from the Tuol Po Chrey movie.
- 24 [13.44.55]
- 25 MR. PRESIDENT:

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed.
- 2 MR. LYSAK:
- 3 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 4 This notwithstanding that this video is not on the list of
- 5 presentation documents that we were provided with, we have no
- 6 objection to it. I assume, however, that counsel will be playing
- 7 the full excerpt. Given his repeated ad hominem attacks on the
- 8 Prosecution today, I would hope that he is playing the full
- 9 excerpt of what Nuon Chea said on this tape, including the part
- 10 where he admits to the execution of the top officials of the Lon
- 11 Nol regime. But, assuming that counsel's playing the full excerpt
- 12 of this video, we have no objection, notwithstanding it not
- 13 having been listed.
- 14 MR. KOPPE:
- 15 We were I was intending to particularly show the passage in
- 16 which he says that there was no such policy. I do agree with the
- 17 Prosecution that the video goes a little further, and I have no
- 18 problem in showing that as well.
- 19 So, that would be, then, Mr. President, an instruction to the AV
- 20 Unit to show, I think, 20 or 30 seconds more than now to you -
- 21 anticipated.
- 22 (Judges deliberate)
- 23 [13.47.09]
- 24 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 25 Indeed, Counsel, you may proceed as requested, to have this

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 portion of the video footage be put up on the screen.
- 2 And as the Co-Prosecutor already requested, that the showing of
- 3 the video should be longer than what has been requested. With
- 4 that, the Chamber also agrees that this extra portion should also
- 5 be put up on display. This means the video length would be now 30
- 6 or 40 seconds longer.
- 7 Now AV booth is advised to put up this document on the screen.
- 8 [13.49.23]
- 9 (Presentation of audio-visual document, no interpretation)
- 10 [13.51.13]
- 11 MR. KOPPE:
- 12 Mr. President, I would like to remind the Chamber that the
- 13 Prosecution seems to think that Nuon Chea was fairly honest in
- 14 this-
- 15 Is something-
- 16 (Judges deliberate)
- 17 [13.52.16]
- 18 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 19 AV booth is now instructed to play this video tape again and to
- 20 include this additional portion of the episode, perhaps 30 to 40
- 21 extra seconds.
- 22 [13.52.46]
- 23 (Presentation of audio-visual document, no interpretation)
- 24 [13.53.56]
- 25 MR. KOPPE:

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Mr. President, Your Honours, I was saying that I would like to
- 2 remind the Chamber that the Prosecution seems to think that Nuon
- 3 Chea was fairly honest in this video. Prosecution have -
- 4 prosecutors have introduced a series of his statements which they
- 5 are which they say are incriminating. And in this clip, with
- 6 respect to this particular policy, Nuon Chea denies that the
- 7 policy existed, and he said that, in the view of the Prosecution,
- 8 to someone he trusted, and he never thought this statement was
- 9 going to be public. So we think that his statement in which he is
- 10 denying such a policy existed is trustworthy, and it is also
- 11 corroborated by the statements of other witnesses, as we will see
- 12 in a moment.
- 13 The next document we intend to present, Mr. President, is number
- 14 E3/1593 that is, at English, 00678523; and at Khmer, 00637444
- 15 until 45; there's no French version of it. It's Ben Kiernan's
- 16 book, "The Pol Pot Regime: Race, Power, and Genocide in Cambodia
- 17 under the Khmer Rouge".
- 18 [13.55.26]
- 19 And at that page, in that book, Kiernan describes a meeting which
- 20 allegedly took place on 20 May 1975. The passage in that book
- 21 reads as follows:
- 22 "Heng Samrin, then studying military affairs under Son Sen, was
- 23 also at the meeting. He recalls the use of another term: 'They
- 24 did not say 'kill', they said 'scatter the people of the old
- 25 government'. Scatter (komchat) them away; don't allow them to

- 1 remain in the framework. It does not mean 'smash' (komtech) ...
- 2 Smash means 'kill', but they use a general word, 'scatter'. Nuon
- 3 Chea used this phrase."" End of quote from this book of Ben
- 4 Kiernan.
- 5 And I would just like to point out that this seems to be a more
- 6 reliable excerpt than the one in Kiernan's book about Nou Mouk,
- 7 which I tried to say earlier but I was objected to was
- 8 unreliable, because in the Nou Mouk excerpt, Kiernan actually
- 9 draws a conclusion on the basis of what his source told him. And
- 10 here, with respect to this particular passage, he's merely
- 11 relaying something told to him by somebody else.
- 12 [13.57.05]
- 13 Mr. President, the next document I would like to present is
- 14 actually a motion that we, the Nuon Chea defence, filed in
- 15 February of this year. The document is E236/5/1, and the language
- 16 I would like to quote is at paragraph 3 and it states:
- 17 "Nuon Chea's relationship with TCW-223 dates to before the Geneva
- 18 Conference, some 60 years ago-"
- 19 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 20 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may now proceed.
- 21 MR. LYSAK:
- 22 Mr. President, this is another document I didn't see on the list.
- 23 And if I just heard right, it sounded to the Prosecution like
- 24 counsel is reading from one of his own filings.
- 25 Again, reading from your own filings is not presenting

- 1 documentary evidence, so we would object to counsel's doing that,
- 2 if indeed I understood correctly as to what this document is.
- 3 [13.58.22]
- 4 MR. KOPPE:
- 5 Of course, Mr. President, we we try to figure out the exact
- 6 parameters of these proceedings. We are allowed to present our
- 7 own key documents. I'm not quite sure where the limits are
- 8 between possible evidence or quoting from your own work, so to
- 9 speak.
- 10 So, unless of course there's a ruling from your side that we are
- 11 not allowed to quote from motions, then, we would like to cite
- 12 from this document and consider it to be a key document.
- 13 (Judges deliberate)
- 14 [13.59.55]
- 15 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 16 Objection by the defence by the Co-Prosecutor against the
- 17 exercise of rights by the defence team on observing on the
- 18 document presentation is appropriate.
- 19 Therefore, the defence team is directed not to quote a portion of
- 20 your documents to present.
- 21 The Chamber has already advised you already that you are here
- 22 to respond to the various key documents presented by
- 23 Co-Prosecutors and Lead Co-Lawyers for the civil parties,
- 24 presented from the 24th to the 27th of June. And the defence team
- 25 has also made it clear to the Chamber that you do not have any

- 1 proposed key documents to present but you want to reserve your
- 2 right to respond to the various key documents submitted by other
- 3 parties, and you may also raise an objection against those
- 4 documents.
- 5 [14.01.15]
- 6 MR. KOPPE:
- 7 Thank you, Mr. President. We will move on.
- 8 The next document I would like to present and I'm not quite
- 9 sure if I'm now prohibited from presenting other documents. It is
- 10 not from our own work. This is always nice to be quoting, but-
- 11 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 12 You may make additional observations on the key documents
- 13 presented by other parties but you are not allowed to extract any
- 14 portion of your documents to make a presentation now, because you
- 15 are supposed to comment or make any observation on the key
- 16 documents presented by Co-Prosecutors and Lead Co-Lawyers for the
- 17 civil parties from the 24th to the 27th of June 2013.
- 18 MR. KOPPE:
- 19 I understand, Mr. President. We have understood it in such a way
- 20 that, although we initially didn't say that we would, we would be
- 21 allowed to present our own key documents. It sort of came about
- 22 these last two days.
- 23 [14.02.35]
- 24 So, if you do not want me to quote from some documents which we
- 25 consider key documents, that is that is fine. Then let me just

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 have a quick look if the rest of the things that I would have
- 2 wanted to say in respect of the policy is-
- 3 (Judges deliberate)
- 4 [14.03.31]
- 5 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 6 Judge Silvia Cartwright, you may proceed.
- 7 JUDGE CARTWRIGHT:
- 8 Thank you, President.
- 9 I'm sure you do understand, Mr. Koppe, the President's ruling and
- 10 the Chamber's ruling is that you may not quote as key documents
- 11 your own submissions, your own applications, but of course, the
- 12 Chamber welcomes your comment on any documents that have been put
- 13 before the Chamber and are, of course, on the case file. And that
- 14 is the purpose of this segment of your address before the Court
- 15 today.
- 16 So, you can continue with key documents in the classic sense of
- 17 that term, documents that have been put before the Chamber and
- 18 are, of course, on the case file. Thank you.
- 19 [14.04.21]
- 20 MR. KOPPE:
- 21 Thank you, Judge Cartwright.
- 22 Then, allow me, Mr. President, to continue with a document which
- 23 I would like to present. That is a document it's from an OCIJ
- 24 statement of a witness who has appeared before this Chamber. That
- 25 witness is Rochoem Ton, alias Phy Phuon. The document number is

- 1 E3/24. The excerpt is at ERN: English, 00223582; and the Khmer
- 2 version, 00204069. I apologize, Judge Lavergne, because I don't
- 3 see why I don't have a French ERN number. I will provide it
- 4 later. And the question put to the witness, Mr. President, is
- 5 whether there were orders to seek out Lon Nol soldiers, and the
- 6 answer of Phy Phuon is as follows:
- 7 "No, because they had raised white flags already. There were
- 8 clear instructions not to touch them. During war, on the
- 9 battlefield, that was different. Now they had surrendered to us,
- 10 and we need not touch them, just welcome them and greet them, and
- 11 respond to the questions which they asked us. He said that [they
- 12 were] 'Cambodians, like us'. Don't touch them at all. Those were
- 13 the words of Pol Pot."
- 14 [14.06.06]
- 15 And if you'll allow me just a quick additional comment about this
- 16 witness's testimony, as well, the Chamber will remember that when
- 17 Philip Short testified before the Chamber, he testified that the
- 18 existence of a policy of executing Lon Nol soldiers was I quote
- 19 a "fact". And after we have examined him extensively, he was
- 20 able to identify only one source who had ever told him first hand
- 21 that he was personally aware of the execution of Lon Nol
- 22 soldiers. And who was that one source? Phy Phuon.
- 23 There are several other witnesses, Mr. President, I could quote,
- 24 but I will settle on just one more, and I'm quoting this one
- 25 witness just to give the Chamber one example of soldiers who were

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 fighting on the ground and who say similar things about the
- 2 orders they received.
- 3 It is a transcript I hope you will allow me transcript dated
- 4 25 October 2012-
- 5 I see already the Prosecution standing; I will move on, Mr.
- 6 President.
- 7 [14.07.42]
- 8 What I would like to do now, Mr. President, Your Honours, is talk
- 9 about some of the statements that the Co-Prosecutors presented.
- 10 The Co-Prosecutors read from three statements in Court. When they
- 11 finished, they said and I quote: "There are many witness
- 12 statements I could read from. Those have been identified in our
- 13 filing of relevant witness statements to this policy." End of
- 14 quote.
- 15 I point that out to the Chamber because it has been it's been
- 16 clear to us for a while that this is the essence of the
- 17 Prosecution's case. The direct evidence of a policy is
- 18 non-existent, so it seems that they're trying to drown the
- 19 Chamber in statements suggesting that executions happened, in
- 20 order to manufacture an impression that this practice was so
- 21 widespread that it must have happened pursuant to a policy. And
- 22 I'll also remind the Bench that when Philip Short testified, that
- 23 was essentially his argument. He was positive that a policy
- 24 existed. He called it a fact. But when he was pressed on it, his
- 25 only real evidence was that it happened everywhere.

- 1 [14.09.02]
- 2 I'm bringing that up right now to explain the remarks I'm about
- 3 to give. In order to properly respond to what the Co-Prosecutors
- 4 have said during their presentation of key documents, I need to
- 5 make some general submissions about the witness statements which
- 6 are on the record, because the position of the Prosecution is
- 7 fundamentally that and I quote again "there are many witness
- 8 statements" showing this policy.
- 9 Now, we have done our own analysis of the statements allegedly
- 10 relevant to this policy and we've looked at statements cited in
- 11 two places. First we looked at statements cited by the OCIJs in
- 12 connection with certain propositions in the Closing Order. Then
- 13 we've looked through the Co-Prosecutors' and the civil parties'
- 14 lists of statements and complaints tendered for admission. And
- 15 we've identified a little over 100 statements that the OCIJs,
- 16 Co-Prosecutors, and Lead Co-Lawyers, all together, say are
- 17 relevant to the existence of a policy of targeting soldiers and
- 18 officials of the Khmer Republic.
- 19 [14.10.25]
- 20 Now, Mr. President, I know that sounds like a lot a hundred.
- 21 And to be honest, I can understand why the Prosecution takes -
- 22 took the position as they did in their key document presentation.
- 23 But this is, of course, why we have a trial: to test that
- 24 evidence. And when you look at the statements carefully, soberly,
- 25 objectively, what you find is systematic and serious flaws in all

- 1 of these 100 statements.
- 2 As I said, we've read and catalogued those statements in detail.
- 3 Obviously, it is impossible today to present these 100 statements
- 4 here systematically; we simply do not simply do not have the
- 5 time for that. But I can tell the Chamber that in not a single
- 6 one of those 100 witness statements not one does a witness
- 7 claim to have personally seen a single execution. We would submit
- 8 that in light of the prosecutors' claim that a centre-driven
- 9 policy required the execution of all Lon Nol soldiers and
- 10 officials across the country that is an extraordinary fact. And
- 11 by itself, it makes the Prosecution's claim during its
- 12 presentation of key documents extremely unlikely.
- 13 [14.12.00]
- 14 If these witnesses, in their 100 statements, did not actually see
- 15 executions, what is it that their statements say? They say a
- 16 variety of things. Some witnesses say that they saw soldiers or
- 17 officials from the Khmer Republic separated from larger groups
- 18 but do not know what later happened to those people. We have
- 19 already said today why we think that kind of evidence is
- 20 unreliable, does not have any probative value.
- 21 Other witnesses say that they saw dead bodies of soldiers on the
- 22 side of the road, in or around Phnom Penh, shortly after 17 April
- 23 1975. Now, because the soldiers of that army had just been
- 24 defeated in a war, the fact that dead bodies were on the ground
- 25 is probative of literally nothing. Also, that evidence should be

- 1 disregarded.
- 2 [14.13.10]
- 3 Numerous statements of these 100 statements, including the
- 4 majority of the victim complaints, merely state the bare fact
- 5 that friends or relatives who were part of the Lon Nol regime
- 6 were killed. In most cases there is no reason at all to believe
- 7 that those people were killed because because they were Lon
- 8 Nol soldiers.
- 9 The three statements described by the Co-Prosecutors in their
- 10 presentation are all vulnerable to these criticisms.
- 11 The first, D25/28, concerned the Krang Ta Chan prison connected
- 12 to the Tram Kak cooperatives. The witness, in that statement,
- 13 claims to know and I quote: "When they arrived there, they had
- 14 them make biographies, and anyone whose biography said they had
- 15 been a soldier would disappear."
- 16 But the statement, however, shows at English ERN 00223475 that
- 17 the witness had no role at Krang Ta Chan prison. He went there
- 18 once to inspect a quote "disturbance" because someone had
- 19 allegedly been raped. He could not have had any personal
- 20 knowledge about what happened at the prison.
- 21 [14.14.43]
- 22 The witness in the second statement, D232/44, told the
- 23 Investigating Judges only that: "As far as I know, evacuees were
- 24 taken for execution." He then said that those who indicated that
- 25 they were Lon Nol soldiers when they first arrived quote -

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 "later on ... disappeared". He also suggested that many other
- 2 people were killed, but he offered no first-hand knowledge of
- 3 what happened to any of them after they quote unquote -
- 4 "disappeared".
- 5 And the witness in the third statement, D125/91, stated that he -
- 6 and I quote "saw them walking hundreds of people to be killed"
- 7 unquote. He does not claim, however, to have seen them get
- 8 killed. There is no indication in the statement about how he
- 9 knows they were killed, and it seems that the investigators did
- 10 not bother to ask him.
- 11 [14.15.53]
- 12 I'll ask, Mr. President, the Chamber to recall that these are the
- 13 three statements the Prosecution chose to best exemplify their
- 14 evidence that former soldiers and officials of the Khmer Republic
- 15 were systematically executed. And that kind of evidence has
- 16 consistently fallen apart during cross-examination. As we have
- 17 seen last week during the examinations of Pech Chim and Lev Lam.
- 18 I will not discuss the evidence given by those two witnesses -
- 19 you were all there, present, so you remember, I'm sure but it
- 20 is obvious that, once cross-examined, no witness stands at the
- 21 end of the cross-examination.
- 22 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 23 Counsel, please hold on.
- 24 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may proceed.
- 25 MR. LYSAK:

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Thank you, Mr. President. I wanted to give counsel a chance to do
- 2 this presentation, and we certainly have no objection to him
- 3 making comments about the value of the three statements.
- 4 [14.17.13]
- 5 I do object to his attempt right now to make submissions and
- 6 arguments about the credibility of witnesses who have testified
- 7 in this trial.
- 8 And I would also object to his prior attempt to testify himself
- 9 about the content of the other statements. His assertion that
- 10 none of these statements evidence executions of Lon Nol soldiers
- 11 is simply incorrect. It is not time for closing arguments.
- 12 Counsel is not a witness. He certainly can present the witness
- 13 statements that he wants to present, he's entitled to comment on
- 14 the statements we presented, but he's not here to provide his own
- 15 summary of the evidence or his own arguments about the evidence.
- 16 And I would object to his characterization or attempts to make
- 17 arguments about the testimony of the witnesses that he's
- 18 referring to right now.
- 19 [14.18.17]
- 20 MR. KOPPE:
- 21 Mr. President, I will move on. I have one or two more things to
- 22 say about the policy of targeting former Lon Nol officials and
- 23 soldiers, and then I will be finishing my submissions, or my
- 24 reactions, to the key documents.
- 25 My last remark is the following, Mr. President, Your Honours. It

1 would seem that from a statement that you, Mr. President, made in

- 2 passing during the Trial Management Meeting on June 13, that the
- 3 Chamber is likely on the verge of admitting every one of these
- 4 statements that I just mentioned. If that is true, our position
- 5 remains that that decision would be based on a serious misreading
- 6 of the applicable law. It would also be a violation of Nuon
- 7 Chea's right to a fair trial.
- 8 But if the statements are to be admitted, it is essential that
- 9 the Chamber bear in mind its decision of 20 June 2012. That
- 10 decision is at E96/7. And in it, the Chamber held that if
- 11 statements are admitted without cross-examination, they would be
- 12 afforded little or no probative value. For all of the reasons
- 13 I've just discussed today, these statements we've been discussing
- 14 are especially unreliable and have no probative value whatsoever.
- 15 And so that holding needs to be taken seriously, Mr. President.
- 16 [14.20.00]
- 17 Even if we were to disregard all of the problems with the
- 18 reliability, the probative value of these statements and accept
- 19 them all at face value, they would still fail to establish that
- 20 the CPK established a policy of executing former soldiers and
- 21 officials of the Khmer Republic. That is because almost all of
- 22 that evidence in those statements, of any kind, concerns events
- 23 in either the Northwest or the Southwest Zone. If a CPK policy
- 24 existed, the evidence would show executions across the country.
- 25 Yet the witness statements, the evidence, the documents of

- 1 executions in five of the seven zones of Democratic Kampuchea is
- virtually non-existent.
- 3 Obviously, Mr. President, Your Honours, unfortunately, we cannot
- 4 make this showing systematically here today, but we invite the
- 5 Chamber to observe that all three witnesses the Co-Prosecutors
- 6 sought at the June 13 Trial Management Meeting were from either
- 7 the Southwest or Northwest Zone. All three witness statements the
- 8 Co-Prosecutors presented on June 26 were from the Southwest or
- 9 Northwest Zone. And the Closing Order itself concedes, at
- 10 paragraph 209, that officials were targeted quote "in
- 11 particular in the Northwest and Southwest Zone".
- 12 [14.21.35]
- 13 And our analysis and this is my last words, Mr. President -
- 14 shows that this bias permeates all of the evidence. And we'll
- 15 make that showing with greater specificity in our closing briefs.
- 16 That is rounding up, Mr. President, my submissions, my our
- 17 reactions to the presentation of key documents in respect of the
- 18 enemy policy, the enemy targeting policy.
- 19 Now I would like to turn to our response to the presentation of
- 20 the Prosecution and the civil parties on forced marriage.
- 21 To begin, I would like to refer the Chamber to the Closing Order.
- 22 As the Chamber is aware, the title of this policy in the Closing
- 23 Order is "The Regulation of Marriage". But the underlying facts
- 24 it alleges are much more precise.
- 25 Paragraph 216 states 216 of the Closing Order: "The CPK forced

- 1 couples to marry, as they took control progressively over parts
- 2 of Cambodian territory before 1975, and continued to do so until
- 3 at least 6 January 1979."
- 4 Paragraph 218 states and I quote: "There is evidence that the
- 5 CPK forced people to marry as early as 1974." End of quote.
- 6 And other allegations in the Closing Order are similar.
- 7 [14.23.34]
- 8 The question, Mr. President, in this document presentation
- 9 hearing is therefore whether the Communist Party of Kampuchea
- 10 adopted a policy of forcing people to marry each other. And like
- 11 the Closing Order, the Prosecution's presentation alleges that
- 12 couples were forced to marry because that policy furthered the
- 13 goals of the revolution.
- 14 Now, we would like to the Chamber to ask itself a simple
- 15 question: If forced marriage was a core tenet of the revolution
- 16 adopted for the purpose of furthering objectives that the
- 17 revolution deemed important, would we not expect to see that
- 18 policy advertised largely by the Party? The question is, was the
- 19 Communist Party of Kampuchea shy about the goals it thought were
- 20 important? Did it not explicitly say, for instance, that people
- 21 should leave the city and live in the cooperatives in the
- 22 countryside?
- 23 Yet there is only one consistency in the documents presented by
- 24 the Co-Prosecutors. They don't say the first thing about forced
- 25 marriage. And many of these documents which were presented say

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 nothing about marriage at all.
- 2 [14.25.17]
- 3 The Prosecution is asking this Chamber to join in on a journey of
- 4 convoluted logic. The Prosecution wants the Chamber to decide:
- 5 one, the CPK had objectives like increasing population -
- 6 increasing population that might vaguely be related to a policy
- 7 of forced marriages; and, two, forced marriages allegedly
- 8 happened. Therefore, the Prosecution wants this Chamber to hold
- 9 forced marriage must have been a policy of CPK.
- 10 Now, obviously, that would be inadequate even if forced marriage
- 11 were within the scope of this trial, but it is not within the
- 12 scope of this trial, which means that all the supposed evidence
- 13 that forced marriages took place is at this stage inadmissible.
- 14 It also means that what the Co-Prosecutors are left with is vague
- 15 political theory.
- 16 What we would like to do, Your Honours, is to go to the documents
- 17 that were presented in relation to this alleged policy and to
- 18 show the Chamber that our characterization of the key documents
- 19 as evidence is accurate.
- 20 [14.26.52]
- 21 The Prosecution began its presentation on forced marriage with a
- 22 set of documents that they believe concern one of the ultimate
- 23 objectives of the regime: population growth. These reports and
- 24 interviews including an issue of "Revolutionary Flag", document
- 25 E3/25, a speech by Ieng Sary, document E3/1586, and an interview

94

1 with Nuon Chea, document E3/686 - these documents are believed to

- 2 describe the CPK's plan to increase the Cambodian population to
- 3 15 or 20 million people in the years following the liberation. If
- 4 we understand correctly, in the Prosecution's mind, in order to
- 5 achieve this population growth, the CPK insisted in forced
- 6 marriages of Cambodian citizens.
- 7 Now, even assuming for argument's sake, that a plan to increase
- 8 population existed, when you read those documents, there is no
- 9 mention of forced marriage in any of these documents. Indeed, the
- 10 documents propose an entirely different and, frankly, much more
- 11 logical way of increasing the population, mainly raising the
- 12 living standard and health of ordinary Cambodians across the
- 13 country.
- 14 Take, for instance, document E3/25; that is an issue of
- 15 "Revolutionary Flag" from December 1976 until January 1977. The
- 16 Prosecution quoted from that document the following passage that
- 17 was at ERN: 00491435:
- 18 "We need from 15 to 20 million people to meet the needs of our
- 19 land. For our population to constantly increase, the livelihood
- 20 of the people must rise and they must be in good health. So,
- 21 then, this means quickly increasing production." End of quote.
- 22 [14.29.17]
- 23 Document number E3/1586, the speech by Ieng Sary which the
- 24 Prosecution claims is particularly relevant, says at ERN:
- 25 00079815 something similar: "We are endeavouring very rapidly

- 1 to improve the living conditions and health of our people because
- 2 we need a population of 15 and 20 million in 10 years' time." End
- 3 of quote.
- 4 So, these documents have no probative value whatsoever. They are
- 5 all irrelevant. They suggest only the existence of a general
- 6 political goal. There is no logical or empirical reason why that
- 7 goal would be served by forcing people to marry each other. And
- 8 the documents themselves explicitly give a different and much
- 9 more comprehensible method of achieving that goal. So, these
- 10 documents presented by the Prosecution should all be disregarded.
- 11 [14.30.38]
- 12 The Prosecution then moved on to documents that purportedly
- 13 detail the CPK concept of marriage and family. The Prosecution
- 14 submitted during the documents hearing that the regime believed
- 15 that a traditional concept of family was superseded by the
- 16 revolutionary family and that caring for an individual's family
- 17 above the Socialist Movement was a betrayal. Once again, the
- 18 Prosecution is trying to turn water into wine in other words,
- 19 to find in the vaguest political theory a specific policy to
- 20 force people to enter into marriages.
- 21 One issue of "Revolutionary Youth" from October 1976 is typical
- 22 of the documents presented by the Prosecution. The document
- 23 number is E3/10, and the quote is from ERN 00450539.
- 24 Mr. President, I apologize; you must have observed that I'm only
- 25 quoting the English ERN numbers. We will present them to you at a

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 later stage.
- 2 But the document number: E3/10. In it, it states as follows and
- 3 I quote:
- 4 "Private property:
- 5 "Other manifestations: Private ownership in organization,
- 6 organizing by one's personal sentiments, by one's family, by
- 7 one's clique, and not standing the political ideology, and
- 8 organizational line of the Party is wrong.
- 9 "For example, anyone who thinks a lot about family interest
- 10 always deceives the revolution and lives separately, seeking
- 11 family happiness, not seeking happiness inside the Party." End of
- 12 quote.
- 13 [14.33.00]
- 14 Another document presented by the Prosecution, E3/750, is also an
- issue of "Revolutionary Youth" from November 1975. And at ERN
- 16 00522461, the article states as follows and I quote:
- 17 "In our revolutionary rank, our revolutionary male and female
- 18 combatants and cadres sacrifice the private possessions such as
- 19 housing, paddy farm, garden, family, parents, relatives,
- 20 children, and other properties in order to serve the Party,
- 21 revolution, and the people."
- 22 As we hope is surely apparent, Mr. President, there's no mention
- 23 of forced marriage in any of these documents. So it is our
- 24 submission that these documents have no probative value and are
- 25 irrelevant.

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Another document cited by the Prosecution is, again, an issue of
- 2 "Revolutionary Youth", document E3/766. And, again, I will quote,
- 3 this time from ERN 00524181. The magazine relays the magazine
- 4 relays a parabole a parabole; I'm not quite sure how to
- 5 pronounce it about a 15-year-old boy, and it states and I
- 6 quote:
- 7 "I have no parents or siblings! I am the child of the Communist
- 8 Party of Kampuchea. My parents and my siblings were killed and
- 9 smashed by the Yuon enemy during [the] invasion of 1976. The
- 10 villagers, my house, my rice paddies, were destroyed and
- 11 plundered by the Yuon enemy and taken back to their country. Now
- 12 I am living in a new family, [...] my parents are none other than
- 13 the Communist Party of Kampuchea [and I will now strive to do my
- 14 best]." End of quote.
- 15 [14.35.27]
- 16 First of all, Mr. President, yet again, this document says
- 17 nothing about forced marriage. In fact, it says nothing of
- 18 marriage at all. So we submit it can be disregarded for that
- 19 reason alone: it has no probative value. But we will add that
- 20 even the message that the Prosecution wants to draw from it is
- 21 it for interpretation of the document itself, we suppose that the
- 22 Prosecution thinks this document shows that the CPK was
- 23 encouraging people to think of the Party as their only family.
- 24 But we submit that the only reasonable inference to make from
- 25 this story is that it represents the CPK telling its citizens

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 that it will protect them in their time of need.
- 2 Now, if it were intended as propaganda in favour of the
- 3 eradication of the family, it would exalt the fact that the boy
- 4 has no parents. The boy wouldn't want to have parents; he would
- 5 want to be with Angkar. But here, in this story, the boy is alone
- 6 only because parents were killed by the Vietnamese allegedly
- 7 the CPK arch-nemesis. We submit that if the Party were trying to
- 8 convey that the eradication of the family were a good thing, then
- 9 the very last story that would tell that they would tell is of
- 10 a family destroyed by the Vietnamese.
- 11 [14.37.12]
- 12 Mr. President, I'm mindful of the time. I'm moving on to another
- 13 document. Maybe, with your leave, this would be a good moment to
- 14 break.
- 15 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 16 Thank you, Counsel.
- 17 Yes, indeed, it is now appropriate moment for adjournment. The
- 18 Chamber will adjourn until 3 o'clock.
- 19 (Court recesses from 1437H to 1502H)
- 20 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 21 Please be seated. The Court is now back in session.
- 22 We would like to now hand over to counsel for Mr. Nuon Chea to
- 23 continue presenting their documents.
- 24 [15.02.53]
- 25 MR. KOPPE:

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 2 It's been a long day; we are almost finished. I anticipate to
- 3 speak for, I think, another 35, 40 minutes. And maybe, on a
- 4 completely unrelated and more lighter note, let me start by
- 5 saying that yesterday was a special day because yesterday was the
- 6 birthday of our client. He turned 87. So I would like to
- 7 congratulate our client with the reaching of this old age, and
- 8 hopefully he will have more years to come.
- 9 Having said that on this completely unrelated note, Mr.
- 10 President, let me now turn to one of our final points in respect
- 11 to the documents being presented by the Prosecution in relation
- 12 to forced marriage.
- 13 [15.03.55]
- 14 Let me start now by going to what the Prosecution called the most
- 15 important contemporaneous document concerning the CPK's concept
- 16 of family and the regulation of marriage, and that is a Party
- 17 publication dating from February 1974, entitled "Revolutionary
- 18 and Non-Revolutionary World Views Regarding the Matter of Family
- 19 Building", and this document number is E3/775. And again, Mr.
- 20 President, Your Honours, nothing in this document advocates for
- 21 forced marriage, and the policies detailed are not criminal.
- 22 At ERN 00417944, the document states and I quote:
- 23 "Back in the old society, before liberation, many youths have
- 24 absorbed the world views of the oppressor class. They searched
- 25 out spouses to build families and out of personal material greed;

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 that is, they seek out family interest or happiness by completely
- 2 breaking from the interests and the fate of the entire nation and
- 3 the people. But family matters, " it continues, "are inseparable
- 4 from matters of the nation and people. If the nation is invaded
- 5 and the people become slaves, our family too becomes slaves."
- 6 [15.05.48]
- 7 And the document continues at ERN 00417943 and I quote:
- 8 "[In this new era], do not go helter-skelter in a rush; do not
- 9 hot to follow whatever [our] heart sees...
- 10 "We do not just choose someone who is good-looking and [...] knows
- 11 how to dress and make themselves up playfully in the modern
- 12 imperialist style, or who is the child of a wealthy person, or
- 13 who has a high old society cultural abilities, or who is capable
- of oratory, or who is a pistol-toting comrade...
- 15 "...they must be clean and living morals and clean politically,
- 16 without involvements with any enemy strings or bad elements." End
- 17 of quote.
- 18 The first thing, again, to recognize about these statements is,
- 19 once more, that they say nothing about forced marriage.
- 20 [15.07.03]
- 21 And the second is that these statements presume presume -
- 22 choice. Why would the Party encourage people not to "go
- 23 helter-skelter in a rush", "follow whatever our heart sees", or
- 24 "choose someone who is good-looking" if all of the decisions were
- 25 predetermined by the Party? Indeed, the title of this discussion

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 in the document itself is I quote "How Should we, the
- 2 Revolutionary Youth, Choose a Spouse?" To be sure, Mr. President,
- 3 document E3/775 implies that the Party was concerned with who
- 4 married whom. But, Your Honours, so was my mother, but it doesn't
- 5 mean I had an arranger marriage.
- 6 Now, in the same the same publication, the Prosecution cites
- 7 the following passages passage, at ERN 00417943 and I quote:
- 8 "When marrying, it is imperative to honestly make proposals to
- 9 the Organization, to the collective, to have them sort things
- 10 out. In the matter of building a family, no matter the outcome of
- 11 the Organization's and the collective's assessment and decisions,
- 12 they must be absolutely respected." End of quote.
- 13 And, again, that is still document E3/775.
- 14 [15.08.44]
- 15 And, again, this passage says nothing about quote unquote -
- 16 "forced marriage". It instructs people to make proposals to the
- 17 organization. Now, are those proposals about who to marry? Are
- 18 they proposals about when to get married? Are they proposals
- 19 about the marriage ceremony? And anyone of these would be the
- 20 opposite of forced marriage; you can't be forced to do something
- 21 you proposed.
- 22 And the very worst interpretation of this document might be that
- 23 the collective had some degree of control over who people could
- 24 not marry. And needless to say, we don't agree that is what the
- 25 documents means. But a policy of matching two people together and

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 ordering them on pain of violence to get married not even
- 2 close, Mr. President.
- 3 Other documents reflect the most general desire for a society
- 4 free of vice and exploitation.
- 5 Document E3/773, and interview with Nuon Chea, at ERN 00711561,
- 6 speaks of a wish to "create a society without debauchery,
- 7 alcoholism, gambling, and materialism".
- 8 [15.10.23]
- 9 Document E3/169, a "Revolutionary Youth" article that was quoted
- 10 by the Prosecution states at ERN 00815131 that and I quote:
- 11 "We have arrived in a new age in which all are equal."
- 12 And and I quote: "Now there is no way of one person exploiting
- 13 others."
- 14 Document E3/770, the CPK publication on family building, at ERN
- 15 00417945, admonished cadres I quote: "Do not leave your spouse
- 16 to cook, look after children, and look after the house. Do not
- 17 consider your spouse someone only you can educate."
- 18 Now, all these documents, we submit, Mr. President, are all
- 19 irrelevant on their face.
- 20 The Prosecution's last document in respect of this alleged policy
- 21 is an interview with Ieng Sary from December 1980. This is
- 22 document E3/681. In that interview, Ieng Sary is quoted at ERN
- 23 00122194 as saying that from now on and I quote "marriages
- 24 will be free, and families will live together" end of quote.
- 25 Now, the Prosecution sees in this an admission that forced

1 marriages had previously been the norm. But even if an inference

- 2 could be made on the basis of this interview as to CPK policy
- 3 between 1975 and 1979, there's no specification at all of the
- 4 sense in which marriages were not free before. Certainly it does
- 5 not imply that the Party decided who would marry who and then
- 6 force them to comply.
- 7 [15.12.37]
- 8 A last remark on this policy, Mr. President, and it is the
- 9 documents presented by the civil parties. These documents
- 10 describe women being forced by the Party to marry men they have
- 11 not chosen. But these documents, while they speak about this,
- 12 speak purely to the implementation of the alleged policy and are,
- 13 therefore, beyond the scope of the trial.
- 14 As we argued in relation to as we will as we will argue in
- 15 relation to cooperatives, there has been no systematic
- 16 consideration of that evidence, especially through live testimony
- 17 before the Chamber, so there's, accordingly, no evidence that
- 18 this arbitrary selection of statements is representative of the
- 19 practice in Cambodia as a whole. There's, furthermore, no
- 20 evidence that Nuon Chea or the Standing Committee was aware that
- 21 these ceremonies occurred. So, these documents must be
- 22 disregarded by the Chamber, irrespective of whether they are -
- 23 quote unquote "relevant" to the existence of the policy.
- 24 Mr. President, I'm now moving on to our response to the
- 25 presentation in respect of cooperatives and worksites. We will be

104

1 also relatively short about this presentation of key documents.

- 2 [15.14.13]
- 3 To begin with, we have to make yet another observation about the
- 4 scope of this particular trial. Of course, we do not like to
- 5 repeat ourselves again, but it seems as though it might be
- 6 necessary. The question at issue in this trial as regards
- 7 cooperatives is: Did a criminal policy to create cooperatives and
- 8 so-called worksites exist? Full stop.
- 9 It follows that the Chamber is required to limit itself only to
- 10 direct evidence of the intentions of the individuals at the very
- 11 top of the Party Centre who are alleged to have formulated the
- 12 policies of the CPK. Now, these are primarily minutes of meetings
- 13 of the Standing and Central Committee and publications issued
- 14 directly by the Party Centre. Any other evidence, documents, must
- 15 be excluded, and that includes any evidence, any documents of how
- 16 cooperatives or worksites actually functioned and the substance
- 17 of their reporting relationship both to and from higher levels.
- 18 [15.15.37]
- 19 As the Chamber knows, the position of the Nuon Chea defence is
- 20 and has long been that conditions varied widely across zones,
- 21 districts, and even in neighbouring cooperatives. The evidence
- 22 broadly supports our position.
- 23 François Ponchaud, whose early work was so instrumental in
- 24 defining an early narrative about DK, conceded to this Chamber
- 25 that he wrongly assumed that conditions were the same everywhere

105

1 in the country. He also explained that his information had come

- 2 largely from interviews with refugees across the Thai border, who
- 3 had come primarily from the Northwest Zone. And also other
- 4 evidence suggests that the conditions in the Northwest Zone may
- 5 have been worst, on average, than the rest of the country.
- 6 It is for these exact reasons, for these reasons, Mr. President,
- 7 Your Honours, that any evidence, any documents of implementation
- 8 at all will be inappropriate and prejudicial.
- 9 If the Chamber intends to find to make any findings about a
- 10 so-called criminal policy to establish cooperatives and
- 11 worksites, it must do so on the basis of direct evidence of the
- 12 intent of the Party Centre. It must find on the basis of that
- 13 evidence, of these documents, that Nuon Chea and other leaders of
- 14 the CPK adopted a policy to establish cooperatives and worksites
- 15 with criminal intent.
- 16 [15.17.20]
- 17 In that light, the first comment we would seek to make about the
- 18 documents presented by the Prosecution is a familiar one: not a
- 19 single document contains direct evidence of any criminal intent
- 20 of any kind. Establishing cooperatives and worksites in itself is
- 21 not illegal, we submit. Collectivity, Mr. President, is not
- 22 illegal. The Prosecution's the Prosecution asks the Chamber
- 23 instead to infer criminality, however to say that this matter
- 24 were to be achieved regardless of the impact on the population,
- 25 and even where the land could not support the work being done.

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 But on the contrary, the documents presented by the Prosecution
- 2 indicate that the primary purpose primary purpose of the
- 3 cooperatives was to feed the people, lift their well-being, and
- 4 provide for a country eviscerated by war and famine.
- 5 For example, the Prosecution presents document E3/11, which is an
- 6 issue of "Revolutionary Flag" from September 1977. At English ERN
- 7 00486256, the document states that the cooperatives are and I
- 8 quote "transforming our once barren, arid, and miserable
- 9 countryside into a countryside each day more luxuriant, provided
- 10 with reservoirs of every size, a network of canals, covered with
- 11 rice paddies and green fields" end of quote.
- 12 [15.19.11]
- 13 Three other CPK publications presented by the Prosecution:
- 14 E3/733, an issue of "Revolutionary Youth" from May '76; document
- 15 E3/5, which is an issue of "Revolutionary Youth" from August '75;
- 16 and document E3/729, a "Revolutionary Youth" issue from October
- 17 '75. All these documents, Mr. President, indicate the same, and
- 18 they show these documents show that cooperatives and worksites
- 19 were established in order to increase production of rice and
- 20 other products in order to and I quote again "supply the
- 21 people in our cooperatives so that they will have enough to eat".
- 22 That last quote, by the way, was from document E3/733, at ERN
- 23 00357874.
- 24 The Prosecution also presented three sets of minutes from
- 25 Standing Committee meetings: E3/182, E3/229, and 235. Now, these 107

1 documents should, in theory, provide the - between brackets -

- 2 "smoking qun", the proof that a criminal policy was indeed
- 3 implement from the top. But what do these documents actually say?
- 4 They say that the Party should examine Kampong Chhnang as a
- 5 possible airfield site and that's in all three documents that
- 6 the country's rice production levels are on target that's in
- 7 document E3/213 and 230 and this is very exciting, that quote
- 8 efforts need to be made to produce 50,000 to 60,000 tons of
- 9 salt this year that's from E3/230.
- 10 [15.21.19]
- 11 The Closing Order alleges that in relation to cooperatives and
- 12 worksites, the Party had unrealistic production targets that had
- 13 to be achieved quote "by any means necessary". Yet the
- 14 Prosecution hasn't identified a single document showing that the
- 15 Party believed that the Party leaders believed that their plans
- 16 were unreasonable.
- 17 The civil parties provide witness statements purporting to
- 18 describe difficult conditions in both the cooperatives and the
- 19 so-called worksites. As we said before, we think these documents
- 20 are not admissible. There's no way to know whether the handful of
- 21 victim complaints and civil party applications handpicked by the
- 22 Lead Co-Lawyer for presentation before the Chamber are, in fact,
- 23 representative of the larger experience of workers in the
- 24 country. They almost surely are not. And we have not had the
- 25 opportunity to systematically examine this evidence live, in

- 1 Court. Therefore, it is all inadmissible.
- 2 [15.22.33]
- 3 The Closing Order also alleges that one purpose of the
- 4 cooperative policy was to and I quote: "detect, defend against
- 5 and smash the enemy". To support that contention the Prosecution
- 6 presented E3/748, an October 1975 issue of the "Revolutionary
- 7 Flag". And the Prosecution said in Court on 25 June this year,
- 8 transcript page 7, that this document and I quote: "explains
- 9 the tasks of cooperatives, particularly in the area of security
- 10 and so by extrapolation the search for the enemies."
- 11 In reality, Mr President, document E3/748 does not mention the
- 12 search for enemies at all but only lists at ERN English,
- 13 00495826, six tasks that cooperatives achieved, including:
- 14 production, trade, political education and we quote: "carrying
- 15 out the tasks in the military sector in ensuring security and
- 16 defence of the country.".
- 17 Now we have a number of comments to make about this specific
- 18 document. Firstly it supports our clients' contention that an
- 19 important purpose of the cooperatives was economic: it was a
- 20 means of production and trade. And in an agricultural society,
- 21 what were cooperatives producing and trading? Food. So, the
- $\,$  22  $\,$  Prosecutions documents shows that one of the main purposes of the
- 23 cooperative system was to organise and equitable system of
- 24 production and distribution of food.
- 25 [15.24.43]

109

1 Secondly, there is nothing criminal or objectionable about using

- 2 a fundamental social structure as a method of security and
- 3 protection. Every human society in the history of the world has
- 4 organised itself, in part, in ways conducive to its own security.
- 5 Why should the CPK be different?
- 6 Third, Mr. President, the mere mention of the word security does
- 7 not have the ominous connotation that the Prosecution is likely
- 8 seeking to give it. It is not synonymous with the targeting of
- 9 people. Indeed the evidence shows that cooperative systems -
- 10 system was an important aspect of the CPK's military victory in
- 11 April '75. This Chamber, as you are well aware, has held that an
- 12 armed conflict existed in Cambodia for the entire period of this
- 13 Courts temporal jurisdiction. There's no reason why cooperatives
- 14 would not continue to play a role in the CPK's effort to defend
- 15 itself.
- 16 And finally if cooperatives were also an effective bulwark
- 17 against espionage, we can only ask: And so what? Is that, in
- 18 itself, illegal?
- 19 [15.26.14]
- 20 The Prosecution also presented document E3/50, which purports to
- 21 be a CPK publication celebrating the third year anniversary of
- 22 the organization of peasant cooperatives. It was dated 20 May
- 23 1976. Prosecution argued that this document is fundamental -
- 24 fundamental because it underscores the role of cooperatives in
- 25 the fight against the enemy and the control of the regime. But

- 1 this document simply describes the cooperative workers support of
- 2 the military. And again that was understandable, indeed
- 3 reasonable, in light of the state of war the country was in at
- 4 that time.
- 5 Finally, Mr. President, the Prosecution presented documents for
- 6 the purpose of showing that cooperatives and work-sites were
- 7 established in order to eliminate the private sphere and replace
- 8 it with a collectivist regime. For example, document E3/729 an
- 9 issue of "Revolutionary Youth" from October 1975, describes at
- 10 English ERN, 00357903, how the cooperatives were and I quote:
- 11 "responsible for harmoniously and orderly managing the education
- 12 and building of the more than two million people who had just
- 13 been liberated from the rule of the contemptible traitors." End
- 14 of quote.
- 15 [15.28.13]
- 16 Document E3/11 the issue of "Revolutionary Flag" from September
- 17 '77, describes the wish to create cooperatives that are orderly,
- 18 harmonious, clean and collective. And document E3/16, a book on
- 19 Cambodian history by Khieu Samphan, describes an effort to create
- 20 a society where poor workers were in control of the villages or
- 21 cooperatives. Further documents cited by the Prosecution,
- 22 including E3/146, 273 and E3/193, only serve to show that in this
- 23 new cooperative system the rich did not take advantage of the
- 24 poor.
- 25 And so, Mr. President, Your Honours, I will repeat what I have

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 said earlier, that a socialist revolution, for the purpose of
- 2 implementing collectivity, is not a crime.
- 3 [15.29.25]
- 4 Mr. President, just a few last remarks and then I will finish,
- 5 about the policy of forced transfer. These are actually very
- 6 brief comments that I have to make, because as the Chamber knows,
- 7 Nuon Chea has acknowledged that he participated in the decision
- 8 to evacuate Phnom Penh. And in relation to this policy
- 9 specifically our dispute with the Prosecution and civil parties
- 10 is not so much whether the Party Centre decided to evacuate
- 11 cities, but whether that is a so called policy, criminal policy
- 12 is maybe another matter. But Nuon Chea does not dispute that it
- 13 happened or that the Party Centre decided upon it.
- 14 [15.30.24]
- 15 Our principle disagreement with the Prosecution is on two fronts.
- 16 Now I am not going to make submissions today. I will just submit
- 17 to the Chamber that the probative value in the presentations
- 18 given by the Prosecution and the civil parties in those respects
- 19 is zero.
- 20 One is the Prosecutions use of documents to attempt to show that
- 21 people living in cities were seen as enemies in April 1975. And
- 22 to make our point, Mr. President, we can just I can simply
- 23 refer back to my earlier arguments about enemies, because the
- 24 argument is similar. There is a systematic lack of specificity in
- 25 those documents. Instead these documents concern only vague -

- 1 vague political goals.
- 2 Second, those documents do not disprove the defence longstanding
- 3 claim that the evacuation of Phnom Penh was lawful under all the
- 4 circumstances. And even if it is true that there were a variety
- 5 of objectives, motivating the evacuation, the fact would be of
- 6 minimal probative value in relation to the legal position we have
- 7 taken in our prior submissions.
- 8 Third, to the extent that crimes were committed by soldiers or
- 9 cadres in the course of the evacuation, the Co-Prosecutors have
- 10 presented no documentary evidence that would support an
- 11 allegation that our client and the other Khmer Rouge leaders
- 12 either gave orders or intended for such acts to occur.
- 13 [15.32.14]
- 14 Obviously, Mr. President, we need to make that showing with much
- 15 greater specificity, but we will do that in our closing
- 16 submissions sometime in October.
- 17 Thank you, Mr. President, very much for your attention. Thank
- 18 you, Your Honours. This will conclude my presentation.
- 19 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 20 Thank you.
- 21 Next I hand over the floor to the National Defence Lawyer for Mr.
- 22 Nuon Chea. You may proceed.
- 23 [15.33.13]
- 24 MR. SON ARUN:
- 25 Good afternoon, Mr. President. Good afternoon, Your Honours. As

- 1 my colleague Mr. Koppe indicated, I intend to present Mr. Nuon
- 2 Chea's response to several specific allegations concerning his
- 3 role in Democratic Kampuchea.
- 4 As this Chamber knows, Nuon Chea's acknowledges that he was the
- 5 Deputy Secretary of the Communist Party of Kampuchea. He also
- 6 acknowledges that he had a leading role in education. However, he
- 7 strongly denies that he had any role in military or security
- 8 affairs or that he acted as Duch's superior at S-21. He also
- 9 denies indeed, he's a little bit baffled by the Co-Prosecutors'
- 10 persistent allegation that he was for about one year the acting
- 11 prime minister of the Democratic Kampuchea government.
- 12 [15.34.46]
- 13 The Co-Prosecutors spent a substantial part of their presentation
- 14 dealing with these three areas, and because these are the main
- 15 areas of dispute, I will focus my remarks on documents that
- 16 concern them.
- 17 Like my colleague Mr. Koppe, I am not presenting anything like a
- 18 comprehensive response. Instead, I will give the broad outline of
- 19 Mr. Nuon Chea's position and some comments about the reliability
- 20 of the prosecutors' evidence and the extent to which it supports
- 21 or, more often, fails to support their very broad and
- 22 aggressive claims about Nuon Chea's role in Democratic Kampuchea.
- 23 Before I begin with those comments, permit me to say a few
- 24 general words about the quality of evidence, especially with
- 25 regard to the authenticity of the documents.

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 As the Chamber will recall, earlier on in this trial, Nuon Chea
- 2 requested that the Chamber provide him with original copies of
- 3 documents about which he was being questioned. The Chamber
- 4 dismissed that request summarily. When Nuon Chea again asked for
- 5 original copies on subsequent occasions, those requests were
- 6 treated dismissively. Neither the Co-Prosecutors nor the Chamber
- 7 took them seriously. The Chamber never made any effort to provide
- 8 Nuon Chea with a single original document. His requests were
- 9 instead treated as an effort to obstruct the proceedings and
- 10 interfere with this Chamber's effort to arrive at a verdict as
- 11 quickly as possible.
- 12 [15.37.27]
- 13 Your Honours, with respect, Nuon Chea's requests were perfectly
- 14 reasonable despite Chamber's holding that the presumption of
- 15 authenticity applies. Without any access to original documents-
- 16 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 17 Mr. Son Arun, please hold on. There is an objection by the
- 18 prosecutor.
- 19 Mr. Prosecutor, you may proceed.
- 20 MR. LYSAK:
- 21 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 22 My objection is that this is an issue that goes to purely to
- 23 admissibility, not to probative value. It's an issue on which
- 24 counsel is making a submission.
- 25 This was argued a long time ago, it's well established practice

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 in all courts around the world to use copies of documents, not
- 2 originals. Counsel's re-arguing a legal issue regarding
- 3 admissibility that was decided a long time ago, rather than
- 4 addressing the probative value of the documents.
- 5 [15.38.41]
- 6 MR. SON ARUN:
- 7 Mr. President, I would like to seek your permission to respond to
- 8 the prosecutor.
- 9 The request by Mr. Nuon Chea for the original document was made
- 10 on the early day, and to date he never has received a single copy
- 11 of the original document, there has never been chance for Mr.
- 12 Nuon Chea to make any comparisons against the original document
- 13 for various documents presented to him.
- 14 And I would like to begin this argument with the authenticity of
- 15 the documents, particularly the authenticity of the documents
- 16 presented by the prosecutor. And soon afterwards I'm going to
- 17 address the issue that the prosecutor is expecting.
- 18 (Judges deliberate)
- 19 [15.40.55]
- 20 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 21 Counsel, please be reminded that now the Chamber is granting the
- 22 opportunity for the defence team to present comments or
- 23 observations on the documents put before the Chamber and
- 24 presented by the prosecutor. And the defence counsel has been
- 25 advised that you will make observations to the various documents

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 presented by the prosecutor and the Lead Co-Lawyer for the civil
- 2 parties. And just now you dealt with the issue of authenticity of
- 3 the document, and the issue of authenticity has already been
- 4 dealt with by the Chamber.
- 5 And, in addition, your observation just now did not go straight
- 6 to the issue on commenting and observing on the key documents
- 7 presented by the Chamber, and you should not be confused with the
- 8 closing statement. For this reason, the Chamber advises you to
- 9 revisit your arguments.
- 10 And please bear in mind that we try to allocate the time as per
- 11 your request, so please make use of your time.
- 12 You may now move on.
- 13 [15.42.17]
- 14 MR. KOPPE:
- 15 Excuse me, Mr. President, for may I just add and it is not
- 16 seeking to necessarily ask a reconsideration of your decision,
- 17 but of course, I know what my colleague was trying to argue in
- 18 today, and that is not, in a general term in general terms an
- 19 argument about the admissibility. He is actually making a very
- 20 specific argument in respect of certain documents which were
- 21 presented by the Prosecution, when it comes to the probative
- 22 value and slash admissibility. What we are speaking what he
- 23 will be speaking about is you might remember that these five
- 24 documents presented to the Chamber, in which the Prosecution or
- 25 in respect of which the Prosecution has argued that red ink sign

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 is in fact his signature.
- 2 So, the argument, although not only going to admissibility, it
- 3 also goes to the probative value of these specific five S-21
- 4 documents. And because the Prosecution refuses to show the
- 5 original documents those five original documents they have
- 6 direct influence as well to the question of probative value.
- 7 [15.43.42]
- 8 So, we are not necessarily arguing the question of authenticity,
- 9 when it comes to admissibility. We're also now, because he is -
- 10 because Nuon Chea is specifically denying that that is his
- 11 signature, we're also touching upon the issue of probative value.
- 12 So, I felt that it would be good to for Your Chamber to know
- 13 that we are not making now a specific general argument about
- 14 admissibility, that all documents should be shown in the original
- 15 forms; only those very specific ones that the Prosecution has
- 16 shown to you two weeks ago, those five documents with the alleged
- 17 signature on the left corner.
- 18 So maybe technically it is a question of admissibility, but more
- 19 specifically, we would argue it is also a question of probative
- 20 value, and therefore it is our submission that we should be able
- 21 to make this specific argument.
- 22 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 23 Mr. Co-Prosecutor, you may proceed.
- 24 [15.45.00]
- 25 MR. LYSAK:

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 Thank you, Mr. President.
- 2 I certainly don't have any objection if counsel wishes to address
- 3 five specific documents, but we were hearing a general argument,
- 4 here, challenging a ruling that was decided a long ago about
- 5 whether originals need to be used in Court.
- 6 And let me correct one assertion counsel just made. He stated
- 7 that the prosecutors have refused to submit originals. This is
- 8 not it is not the prosecutors who were in possession of the
- 9 originals; it was the Investigating Judges who went out and
- 10 obtained copies, put them on the case file, and it is those
- 11 copies which all parties have access to. In regards to these five
- 12 documents, some of the copies are colour copies.
- 13 [15.45.50]
- 14 Moreover, if counsel is really interested in seeing the
- 15 originals, they could go to DC-Cam and to Tuol Sleng and look at
- 16 the originals. They're entitled to do that, just as anyone in the
- 17 public can do that. So, to stand up and assert that the
- 18 Prosecution has somehow prevented them from having access to the
- 19 originals is misleading, and they should not be making general
- 20 arguments about the issue of original documents.
- 21 I have no problem if counsel wants to discuss details about these
- 22 five specific documents.
- 23 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 24 Mr. Son Arun, could you please be specific? Because the issue
- 25 that you have raised just now is general in nature; it is

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 different from what your international colleague said. He
- 2 actually mentioned that you refer specifically to the five
- 3 documents presented by the prosecutor.
- 4 And as for these five documents, the prosecutors themselves did
- 5 not object to this observation, so long as you focus on these
- 6 five documents. If you raise it in general, then you are actually
- 7 going back to the issue that the Chamber has already ruled upon
- 8 thus far.
- 9 And, once again, you are now supposed to raise your observation
- 10 on key documents presented by the prosecutors, and it is not time
- 11 for making a final statement.
- 12 You may now resume.
- 13 [15.47.40]
- 14 MR. SON ARUN:
- 15 Thank you, Mr. President, for your enlightenment. I would like to
- 16 now resume.
- 17 Your Honours, with respect, Mr. Nuon Chea's request was perfectly
- 18 reasonable despite Chamber's holding that the presumption of
- 19 authenticity applies. Without any access to original documents or
- 20 any right to investigate, Nuon Chea never had any realistic
- 21 chance to challenge that presumption.
- 22 We would ask Your Honours to note that there are serious and
- 23 legitimate questions surrounding the provenance, chain of
- 24 custody, and authenticity of documents on the case file.
- 25 Contemporaneous DK documents were largely collected by the

- 1 DC-Cam, and those documents which were provided to this tribunal
- 2 are not stored on site at the-
- 3 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 4 Counsel, you are actually dealing you're now dealing with the
- 5 general nature of the document. And just now we already dealt
- 6 with the issue that you are supposed to deal with -
- 7 specifically with the five documents raised by the prosecutor,
- 8 but you are resuming your arguments based on general nature of
- 9 the documents. And this issue has already been ruled upon by the
- 10 Chamber.
- 11 [15.49.42]
- 12 MR. SON ARUN:
- 13 Thank you, Mr. President. So I would like to now move on to the
- 14 issue of the accusation on Mr. Nuon Chea as the acting prime
- 15 minister.
- 16 Now I would like to turn to Nuon Chea's specific roles, and I
- 17 would like to begin by discussing the prosecutors' allegation
- 18 that Nuon Chea was the acting prime minister of Democratic
- 19 Kampuchea between September 1976 and 1977. Your Honours, I am not
- 20 going to spend very much time on this; I just want to make two
- 21 very short points.
- 22 First, the Prosecution does not claim that in his role as acting
- 23 prime minister, Nuon Chea undertook any new responsibilities. Now
- 24 we are not at this stage going to make any comments about the
- 25 role of the prime minister in Democratic Kampuchea, but I do want

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 to emphasize that there is no allegation from the Prosecution
- 2 that when Nuon Chea supposedly became the acting prime minister
- 3 of Cambodia, that caused his role to change in any real way. And
- 4 there is no dispute here about Nuon Chea's substantive authority.
- 5 [15.51.20]
- 6 Second, I would like the Chamber to take note of the fact that
- 7 Nuon Chea has never disputed his position as the Deputy Secretary
- 8 of the Communist Party of Kampuchea. He readily concedes -
- 9 indeed, he is proud that he held a position of very senior
- 10 authority in the Khmer Rouge hierarchy. Yet he vigorously
- 11 disputes that he has never named acting prime minister; he simply
- 12 has no recollection of it.
- 13 Your Honours, in our view, there is relatively little in terms of
- 14 criminal responsibility, which depends on whether Nuon Chea was
- 15 ever the acting prime minister. For that reason, I will not spend
- 16 too much more of our precious time disputing it. But that for
- 17 same reason, we would urge the Chamber to conclude that Nuon Chea
- 18 has no good reason to lie about his role in this regard.
- 19 Now I would like to turn to the issue that the prosecutor
- 20 discussed in during his key document presentation. Mr.
- 21 President, I will now turn to Nuon Chea's alleged role in
- 22 military and security affairs.
- 23 [15.53.04]
- 24 The Co-Prosecutors' main evidence that Nuon Chea had a role in
- 25 military or security affairs was that he allegedly received

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 certain telegrams. According to the Co-Prosecutor, these
- 2 communications show that Nuon Chea had a role in military and
- 3 security affairs. In fact, these telegrams show only that Nuon
- 4 Chea, among other senior leaders of Democratic Kampuchea, may
- 5 have occasionally been sent information about military
- 6 operations. They show nothing of any substance about his
- 7 so-called role in Democratic Kampuchea.
- 8 We examined 15 telegrams that the prosecutor says show Nuon
- 9 Chea's role in military or security affairs. As a preliminary
- 10 matter, it seems to us that five of the document numbers given by
- 11 the Co-Prosecutors may have been in error. The document numbers
- 12 they listed do not correspond to the content of the documents
- 13 they described. The document numbers they gave were E3/1122,
- 14 E3/1123 I repeat: E3/1122, E3/1123, E3/1124, E3/1125, E3/1126.
- 15 We think that the numbers were probably supposed to be E3/1222
- 16 through E3/1226. So that is 12 instead of 11, and we therefore
- 17 ask the prosecutor to please check that now. But since we are
- 18 pretty sure that it's right, we'll proceed on that basis.
- 19 [15.55.42]
- 20 And for lack of time, we are not going to go through each of
- 21 these documents. I will list them quickly for the Chamber. They
- 22 are: E3/1222, E3/1223, E3/1224, E3/1225, E3/1226, E3/1135,
- 23 E3/892, E3/1154, E3/181, E3/867, E3/519, E3/1144, E3/1077,
- 24 E3/1080 and E3/156.
- 25 Mr. President, what do these telegrams have in common? Two

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 important things.
- 2 First, they all come from the later part of the Democratic
- 3 Kampuchea period. There is one grouping of six telegrams from
- 4 around October 1976. These five or six telegrams all concern the
- 5 same general subject matter. The remaining six are all from some
- 6 time after February 1978. These facts are very important for the
- 7 purposes of the trial. Most of the crimes charged in this trial
- 8 are alleged to have happened in April 1975. The other alleged
- 9 crimes, which concern population movement phase 2, happened
- 10 mostly in late 1975 and 1976.
- 11 [15.58.02]
- 12 Now, as the Nuon Chea defence has argued many times, the evidence
- 13 shows that in April 1975, the Party Centre had almost no military
- 14 forces of its own. Even the prosecutor claims that Pol Pot only
- 15 began to consolidate the military in July 1975. The evidence
- 16 shows that the process happened gradually and was never fully
- 17 complete.
- 18 The Chamber should pay close attention to the fact that the
- 19 Co-Prosecutors were unable to find a single document showing Nuon
- 20 Chea's role in the military dated earlier than October 1076, more
- 21 than one year after the Centre military divisions were first
- 22 established. The Co-Prosecutors' documents are completely
- 23 irrelevant to Nuon Chea's role in military in 1975 and 1976. The
- 24 Chamber should conclude that no evidence exists at all that Nuon
- 25 Chea had any role in military affairs within the temporal

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 jurisdiction of this trial. Even if Nuon Chea did receive
- 2 occasional military communications beginning sometime in late
- 3 1976, that would prove exactly nothing of substance about this -
- 4 or his supposed role in military or security affairs in that
- 5 period.
- 6 [16.00.05]
- 7 Most of the telegrams presented by the Prosecution do little more
- 8 than provide to the Party Centre benign updates about the
- 9 country's ongoing war with Vietnam. This Chamber held, in the
- 10 Duch Judgement, that an international armed conflict was going on
- 11 between Cambodia and Vietnam from the very beginning of the
- 12 Democratic Kampuchea regime until its very end. (Inaudible) scale
- invasions were launched during 1977.
- 14 Under these conditions, does the Prosecution show Nuon Chea, the
- 15 alleged second in command of the country, leading the troops into
- 16 battle? Do they show him carefully planning military strategy? Do
- 17 they show him issuing orders to military leaders? No. They show
- 18 that 15 times over 19 months he received a three-page update
- 19 describing vaguely the situation at the border. They show no
- 20 evidence that he asked for those reports, no clear evidence that
- 21 he received them, no evidence that he took any action in response
- 22 to them.
- 23 [16.02.14]
- 24 The Prosecution has indeed succeeded in showing the nature of
- 25 Nuon Chea's role in military and security affairs; it is possibly

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 not the role they had in mind.
- 2 Mr. President, permit me to make one last point about these
- 3 telegrams.
- 4 The Prosecution argued last week that these documents also show
- 5 Nuon Chea's role in relation to internal security and the
- 6 discipline of cadres. Your Honours, it is true that there are
- 7 perhaps four of five telegrams which briefly mention questions of
- 8 internal security. I think that if you review these telegrams,
- 9 you will find that they are mainly about the military campaign.
- 10 They may, as an afterthought, then provide some information about
- 11 Party discipline, but it is clear that the point of these
- 12 documents is to supply the Party Centre with a short military
- 13 update.
- 14 There is only one exception, which is document E3/1154. As the
- 15 Prosecution said, this document appears to be a letter from a
- 16 cadre who is asking for forgiveness. And if Your Honours will
- 17 read the very first sentence of that document, you will see that
- 18 it says, first of all: "Please forgive me for writing directly to
- 19 you, which is contrary to protocol, while you are overwhelmed by
- 20 a great deal of leadership tasks."
- 21 [16.04.48]
- 22 So, this document, in fact, shows the opposite of what the
- 23 Prosecution says. It shows that matters of internal discipline
- 24 were not within the usual responsibility of Nuon Chea.
- 25 Your Honours, the only other evidence the Prosecution relied on

Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia Trial Chamber – Trial Day 206 Case No. 002/19-09-2007-ECCC/TC 08/07/2013

- 1 to show Nuon Chea's alleged role in military and security affairs
- 2 were his alleged statements in Thet Sambath's book and videos.
- 3 Mr. Koppe has already addressed that evidence. His comments apply
- 4 equally here.
- 5 For all these reasons, Your Honours, the evidence is clear that
- 6 Nuon Chea had no role of any substance in either military or
- 7 security affairs.
- 8 I may now proceed to another section, which is on S-21.
- 9 MR. PRESIDENT:
- 10 Counsel, it is already time for the adjournment. We note that you
- 11 may need additional another one hour to submit these
- 12 observations, so it may be good that we now adjourn and resume
- 13 the sessions tomorrow.
- 14 [16.06.23]
- 15 The Chamber will adjourn now, and the next sessions will indeed
- 16 be resumed tomorrow, at 9 a.m. During tomorrow's sessions, the
- 17 Chamber will continue hearing the observations or comments made
- 18 in response to the Prosecution and Lead Co-Lawyer for the civil
- 19 parties regarding the key documents they presented before the
- 20 Chamber previously. These documents were presented during June.
- 21 And counsel for Mr. Nuon Chea will be submitting in response to
- 22 this also tomorrow. And the Chamber would like all the parties to
- 23 the proceedings and the public to be informed.
- 24 Now security personnel are now directed to take Mr. Khieu Samphan
- 25 and Nuon Chea to the detention facility and have them returned to
